HEAVY SLASH RECOMMENDED IN FARM BILL

House Sub-Committee Would Trim President's Request by 20 Per Cent.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—A 20 per cent cut in President Roosevelt's farm appropriation estimates was recommended to the house today by its appropriations committee, raising one of the session's touchiest political issues.

For the fiscal year beginning July 1 Mr. Roosevelt asked an appropriation of $788,929,519 for the agriculture department. The committee trimmed this $154,-[illegible] chiefly by slashing $72,-[illegible] from the surplus commodity disposal item, $47,975,000 asked for the 1937 sugar act and $25,000,000 asked for farm tenant [illegible].

These and various small cuts added up to the largest reduction made in any single major appropriation measure by the committee this session—despite the fact that sentiment for farm spending frequently is stronger than that for any other type of expenditure. Congressional leaders characterize a farm appropriation as the toughest test of an economy movement in congress.

Asserting that no appropriation can ever be said to be wholly adequate, the committee said in its report to the house:

"The current status of federal finances has imposed a necessity for retrenchment and the committee has endeavored to apply the cuts in this bill where they would be the least harmful to the public interest."

As forecast by farm bloc leaders, the committee followed President Roosevelt's suggestions by refusing to ask a $225,000,000 appropriation for parity payments. Last year the house also refused to make such a fund available, but reversed itself upon senate insistence.

The bill continued the usual item of $498,000,000 for soil conservation benefit payments, which have been appropriated annually since the agriculture department's crop control programs were initiated.

Permanent Plan Asked for Farmers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Secretary Wallace, contending that farmers have been "subject to the shifting winds of political sentiment," wants congress to adopt some permanent scheme of subsidies which would not be a regular financial drain on the treasury.

He told a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today that if congress stops making annual parity appropriations of more than $200,000,000, it ought to consider the certificate plan or special taxes.

(Parity payments, not requested by President Roosevelt, are designed to raise farm purchasing power to the 1910-1914 level. Under the certificate plan, farmers who cooperated with crop control programs would be issued slips which processors of their commodities would have to purchase.)

Other Groups Protected

Wallace said that "the other great groups — here you have labor; it does not have to come to congress every year and have its collective bargaining power validated. Here is business, it does not have to come to congress every year and have its powers validated, or the tariff.

"But agriculture has to come to congress every year and say, please, Mr. Congress, do you have enough money this year to give us parity payments?"

"Agriculture, therefore, says either make these other folks come around every year * * * or else let us have a basis whereby we are not subject to the shifting winds of political sentiment."

Wallace told the committee that the $225,000,000 congress appropriated last year for parity pay-

Miners Hit U. S. in War and Loan To Finnish People

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30—Following up a demand that the United States stay out of foreign wars, the United Mine Workers of America today opposed any U. S. government loans to Finland.

A resolution adopted by the union at its annual convention expressed sympathy for "heroic Finland and other victims of aggression," but said that it would be better policy for this nation to withhold "any money or participation directly or indirectly in wars in Europe and Asia."

"Peace must be preserved, but congress should not do anything to involve the United States," the resolution added.

Reds, Nazis Criticized

Several union officers, including Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy, criticized Russia and Germany.

"In my judgment there is absolutely no reason for the invasion of Finland except to serve the interest of dictatorship," Kennedy said.

Another resolution condemned what it termed the inefficiency of the wage-hour law and urged large appropriations to better the act's enforcement.

The union also indorsed a pending proposal in congress to restrict the use of the national guard in labor disputes.

Before the convention also were 47 resolutions advocating a third term for President Roosevelt, whose New Deal administration has been condemned vigorously by U.M.W.'s president, John L.

Plans for Annual Birthday Dance Tonight Complete

The President's birthday dance and theater party tonight at the Elks hall and Ohio theater will be open to every one in Marion city and county.

Tickets, $1 for two persons, will be sold throughout the evening at the Elks club. Fifty per cent of the proceeds will go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and 50 per cent will remain in Marion county to be distributed by the county chapter of the Foundation.

Dance patrons will dance to music by Bob McMahon's orchestra, starting at 9 and theater patrons will be entertained by Sonja Henie's new romantic comedy, "Everything Happens at night."

At 11:15 the radio at the Elks hall will be tuned in for the annual birthday party broadcast from Washington, D. C.

MARION YOUTH GETS POST ON BALL CLUB

Roy Stout To Be Executive with Oakland Team.

Roy Stout, 19, of 462 Avondale avenue, has been named to an executive position with the Oakland, Calif., baseball team in the Pacific coast league and will take over his new duties when the club begins spring practice in mid-February at Napa, Calif.

Stout reported his acceptance of the position yesterday, prior to leaving for New York City and points in the east, where he will confer with baseball officials before going to California to take over his new duties. The youthful baseball enthusiast was offered the post during the big league sessions held recently at Cincinnati, he revealed in announcing his acceptance.

Roy, who graduated from Harding High school in 1938, was enrolled as a sophomore at Ohio State university during the term just completed. Since early in his high school career he has been an avid follower of baseball and in more recent years took particular interest in the Ohio state league.

It was partially through connections made during his work with the Ohio state circuit that Roy was offered the west coast position. He will serve as assistant to V. A. DeVincenzi, president and owner of the Oakland team. It is understood that part of his duties will consist of traveling secretary while the club is on road trips.

Following his trip to New York, where he plans to confer with officials of the Newark, N. J., team he will go to California by a southern route. Reporting in Oakland, Feb. 7, he will be on hand for the start of spring training, Feb. 17. The Pacific coast league, which is of AA classification, the same as the American Association, opens a 180-game schedule, March 31.

John Verger, formerly third baseman with the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies, is manager of the Oakland team.

VOTE LIGHT IN LEVY ELECTION

Noon Checkup Points to Total of Between 3,000 and 4,000 Ballots.

Marion voters went to the polls today to express their opinions on two extra tax levies, but from all reports a lot of citizens were staying at home or at the office.

A checkup of 10 of the city's 30 precincts at noon today indicated a light vote of about 3,300 to 3,500. Election board officials, however, said that they would not be surprised to see the total go up to 4,000. Two years ago in a special election on two other tax levies about 5,200 persons voted. However, that election came in September when the weather was more favorable.

Would Raise $73,000

In today's special election the levies being voted on are a 1.3-mill levy for poor relief and a .9-mill levy for WPA costs. Both are proposed for two years and would raise together about $73,000 a year.

The polls opened today at 6:30 a. m. amid winter darkness which also kept people at home. Some precincts reported they received no votes other than absentee ballots and those of the election workers themselves for an hour or so.

The polls will close at 6:30 p. m. Officials expect to know the final vote for the city by about 9 o'clock tonight.

Although the checkup at noon today indicated the voting was light, there was a possibility that many people who ordinarily vote in the mornings were waiting until afternoon and perhaps better weather.

Results of Checkup

The precincts checked by The Star at noon, together with the votes cast at that time, were:

1-B at Beman's barber shop at 808 East Center street, 37; 1-D, at Mark street fire department, 38; 2-A at Marion Lumber Co. at 200 Oak street, 38; 2-B at Smith's residence, 553 North Main street, 30; 3-A at West Side fire department, 40; 4-A at municipal court room, 42; 4-D at Navin's residence, 370 Blaine avenue, 33; 5-A at public library, 32; 5-D at Marion Mfg. Co., 202 Superior street, 26; 6-C at Winfield's residence, 285 Summit street, 43.

Workers in these precincts estimated that anywhere from 30 to 75 or more persons would cast votes in their respective precincts during the remainder of the day.

Couple Married Sixty-Five Years Die Day Apart

Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Russell, nonagenarian lifelong residents of Marion county who were parted by his death Sunday after 65 years of marriage, were reunited when she died last night at 9 at their home three miles north of Marion on the Bucyrus road.

Mr. Russell was 92 and his wife, Mrs. Amanda Helen Russell, was 90. He was ill two weeks before his death and she was taken critically ill a week ago.

Friends may call at the Schaffner-Denzer Co. funeral home on East Center street tonight. The funeral service for Mr. Russell was conducted there at 2 p. m. today by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of First Presbyterian church, but the body will remain at the funeral home until Mrs. Russell's funeral Wednesday at 1 p. m. Both will be buried Wednesday afternoon in Marion cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell were lifelong residents of Marion county.

Mrs. Russell was born on Sept. 10, 1849 to William Harvey, a native of Pennsylvania, and Mary Fickle Harvey, a native of Marion county. She and Mr. Russell were married in Marion in 1874. Mr. Russell was the last of a family of 11 children and Mrs. Russell was the last of a family of seven children.

Sycamore Board Plans Emergency Rooms for Pupils

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, Jan. 30—The approximately 480 pupils of Sycamore centralized school, which was destroyed by fire yesterday morning, will get a vacation of two weeks or more. At an emergency meeting of the board of education yesterday, it was decided to start classes again in two weeks or a little longer, depending upon how soon temporary quarters can be arranged.

The high school students will attend classes in the auditorium-gymnasium, which was untouched by the fire. Four rooms will be partitioned off on the gym floor, the stage will be used for another room and the balcony will be a study hall.

Will Use Garage

Grade pupils will go to the Ford garage building which has been rented by the board. If more space is needed, other quarters may be arranged.

The board received many offers of assistance from schools in nearby communities and from the local churches. The Upper Sandusky board offered to take the Sycamore High school pupils during the emergency and it is understood Tiffin made a similar offer.

Meanwhile, officials revised their estimate of the damage caused by the blaze, Dennis A. Bloom, board clerk, setting the figure at $150,000. Insurance coverage amounted to approximately $83,000.

No definite plans have been made for rebuilding, but will be made shortly, officials said. It is believed the walls of the old building, left standing by the fire, cannot be used in the new structure.

Cause Undetermined

Cause of the fire, which apparently started in the attic, is still undetermined. General opinion was that a defective flue, or possibly defective wiring, was the cause.

Sycamore's firemen were called back to the scene three times yesterday afternoon to put out new outbreaks.

At about 7:30 last night they answered a call at the Paul Brown residence where a chimney caught fire but did little or no damage.

While the school fire was still raging yesterday morning, the firemen received a call to the Kenneth Moor home at Benton southeast of here, but did not respond. A gasoline stove exploded and caused minor damage.

CONFERENCE HELD ON CITY FINANCES

Work on 1940 Appropriation Continues.

Work on the city's 1940 appropriation ordinance was advanced last night at a meeting of the council finance committee and Mayor Snare at the mayor's office in the hall. A sub-committee of the taxation and legislation committee of the Chamber of Commerce sat in on the meeting to become familiar with the city's financial problems.

Beginning tonight heads of the various city departments will be interviewed to discuss estimates of their needs for the year.

The appropriation ordinance is scheduled to come before council for action shortly.

Home Building and Loan Given Federal Approval

Stockholders To Vote Feb. 21 on Proposal To Federalize Marion Company.

Officials of the Home Building, Savings & Loan Co. announced today that their preliminary application for conversion of the company into a federal savings and loan association and insurance of its accounts has been approved by the Federal Home Loan bank boards at Cincinnati and Washington, D. C.

As the next step, officials have sent letters to stockholders notifying them of a special meeting to be held at the company's offices on Feb. 21 at 10 a. m. to vote on approval of the board's action in seeking a federal charter. These letters were received by the company's 1,800 stockholders yesterday.

It is expected that federalizing of the company will be completed in approximately three weeks from the Feb. 21 meeting if a majority of the stockholders who cast votes either in person or by proxy approve of the board's plan to federalize. If the plan receives the stockholders' approval, the company then will make formal application to the federal board for a charter which, upon its issuance, will complete the federalizing procedure.

It was explained that the preliminary approval already given qualifies the company to become a federalized institution and shows that the company has met all of the strict requirements of the federal board.

Insurance Provided

Among the principal benefits of federalizing, company officials said, will be the elimination of the limited withdrawal rule which has been in effect for several years and the placing of all accounts under federal insurance, up to $5,000 on each account. All accounts of the company will retain their present face value in the new company when federalization is completed, officials said.

Also, the company will resume lending operations and will have increased facilities of the Federal Home Loan bank at Cincinnati at its disposal. The company already is a member of the Cincinnati bank.

Operation of the company, upon its federalization, will be under federal supervision rather than state supervision.

Company officials have chosen the name of the Home Federal Savings & Loan association for use after the federal charter has been granted.

The company has running stock accounts totaling approximately $1,447,000. Its officers are John J. Stafford, president; Henry A. Pfau, vice president; Ray H. Wardell, secretary; Miss Mary Heininger and Merle Russell, assistant secretaries; Hayes Thompson, attorney. Directors are Mr. Stafford, Mr. True, S. H. Kleinmaier, Mr. Thompson, Charles H. Isely, E. J. Schoenlaub and M. L. McDaniel.

FINLAND BAGS 21 RED PLANES

Helsinki Reports Success in Terrific Bombing Raid of 200 Ships.

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, Jan. 30—The Finnish high command announced today that Finnish planes and anti-aircraft batteries downed 21 Russian planes during yesterday's widespread raids over southern Finland.

It was declared that Finnish planes had bombed "a certain harbor and vessels lying there"—and informed circles here assumed that this meant the Russian naval base of Kronstadt near Leningrad.

The Finnish command said only one Finnish plane was lost.

(The Russian high command insisted, however, that seven Finnish planes had been downed yesterday).

A high command communique, describing increased sea and land fighting as well as air activity, estimated 200 Russian planes took part in the raids in which "over 30 civilians were killed and about 50 wounded."

Red Losses Heavy

Northeast of Lake Ladoga, where Finnish-Russian fighting has been particularly intense for the past week, the Finns declared the Russians had attempted a few attacks but were repulsed with "heavy casualties."

Supporting this action, naval forces attacked the Finnish fort at Mantsi, on a Lake Ladoga island flanking the northeast front. The Finns said this blow was fended off.

Finns believe Russia's massed aerial assault on their nation to be Soviet strategy intended to minimize the effect of Red land reverses.

An official announcement said 32 persons were killed and 38 wounded yesterday in bombings described as the most disastrous since the undeclared war started.

It was estimated 200 bombs were rained on 23 cities and towns.

Unofficial reports placed the casualty list higher. Thirty persons were reported killed in Turku alone during a three-hour raid. The chief of police at the seaport of Hanko said the city

President Roosevelt Is 58 Today and Reported Feeling Fit As Fiddle

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—President Roosevelt is 58 years old today, and "fit as a fiddle" for either another hard political campaign or the tapering off of a spectacular career in public office.

Which course he will choose remains a mystery. Whatever the decision may be, his physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, says that Mr. Roosevelt is in as "perfect condition as any man of his age could be" for the years ahead.

The President was celebrating his birthday anniversary in a quiet and traditional manner. Throughout the nation, however, the day was being observed with parties and programs to raise funds for a campaign to halt the ravages of infantile paralysis.

HITLER LAYS BLAME FOR WARS ON BRITAIN

Fuehrer's Speech Marks Seven Years in Office.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Jan. 30—(Via Radio)—Adolf Hitler, accusing England of having waged "most of the wars of this world," today pictured Germany as the principal victim of oppression since the Versailles treaty was signed.

In a surprise address on the seventh anniversary of his chancellorship, Hitler reviewed, in sarcastic tone, the fruits of the 1938 armistice.

His listeners jeered the allies, as he said that they, principally England, were repeating all the glowing promises they made in 1918.

"It was the treaty of Versailles which was to have accomplished all of these improvements," he said. "It was a treaty of innumerable clauses, all of which accomplished just nothing."

For a long time Germany "begged and entreated" her western neighbors for justice, he said.

"But after all, these entreaties proved themselves to be in vain. Then, and then only, did National Socialism originate."

What happened, he said, was that the allies "soon set about chopping Europe into small pieces."

"A crazy system of reparations was invented and as people experienced the results more than the Germans, Hitler said, drawing his new-leather sleeves of a post-war Germany [illegible] by the Versailles treaty.

Philanthropist Who Aided Church at Caledonia Dies

Edward S. Harkness, Who Gave Away Millions, Is Stricken.

Edward S. Harkness, 66, whose mother gave Caledonia its Memorial Methodist church and parsonage and who himself endowed the church with approximately $14,-000, died last night in New York City, leaving behind him philanthropies of $190,000,000 to education and health.

The fortune of Harkness, a native of Cleveland, stemmed from that of his father, Stephen V., whose early partnership with John D. Rockefeller Jr. in founding Standard Oil brought millions to the family.

Caledonia residents recalled today that years ago, before Stephen Harkness and Rockefeller formed their partnership, Harkness was a distiller in Caledonia.

Edward Harkness' mother, the former Anna M. Richardson, was the daughter of Mrs. Maria Richardson Underwood of Caledonia. In 1909 Mrs. Harkness desired to give a public building in Caledonia in memory of her mother and suggested a library. Since the community was not large enough to warrant a library of the size and cost she desired, she was asked to give the money for a new Methodist church. She acceded on condition that the old church be razed and the pastor, the late Rev. James Gray, wrote the formal letter of acceptance on March 28, 1908. Mrs. Harkness engaged Abram Garfield of Cleveland as architect and on Oct. 24,

RAIDERS VISIT BRITISH COAST

Watchers on Shore See Pilots Fight In Sky; One German Shot Down.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 30—Germany today renewed widespread air attacks on shipping along the east coast of the British Isles and Britain reported one of the Nazi raiders had been shot down.

Shore watchers saw one British patrol vessel attacked and escape unharmed. Jets of water rose from either side as she zigzagged to dodge two bombs dropping from a low-flying Nazi plane.

British fighters then chased the invader into the clouds where the pursuit continued. Fighters were in action against other German planes over several east coast towns.

A German warplane bombed vessels off the east coast town of Yarmouth today, the air ministry announced.

Results "are not yet known," said the air ministry's first announcement. The attacker was pursued by a royal air force fighter plane and coastal patrol machines.

In addition to a continuation of the war on shipping—it was estimated that from 15 to 20 German planes took part yesterday, attacking 14 vessels with bomb and machine-gun — German planes flew low over British coastal towns today.

Two German planes flew low over the northeast coast of Scotland while a third craft twice circled a Kentish coast town, in southeast England, at a height of less than 100 feet.

Fear Blitzkrieg Coming

Confronted with a possibly ominous stepping-up of German air raids, Britons wondered if a lightning war against shipping might be at hand.

The British found proud comfort in reports that yesterday in the worst winter storm of nearly a half-century the flying guardians of the coast still could fight when land traffic was almost paralyzed.

British sources estimate that 15 to 20 German planes took part in yesterday's onslaught—the broadest of the war—extending over 700 miles, from the Shetland islands south to the Kentish coast.

None of the attackers was reported to have penetrated inland and of 13 British merchant ships and one Latvian vessel bombed and machine-gunned not one was reported sunk, although there were several casualties among crewmen. The Germans also were said to have struck at two lightships.

Berlin Reports Success

(Berlin announced that seven "enemy-convoyed armed merchant ships and two patrol boats" were destroyed in yesterday's operations. The official German news agency announcement called the foray only a reconnaissance and declared that all the German planes returned safely as against the loss in combat of one British pursuit plane.)

Seven of the crew of the Latvian freighter Tautilla, 3,724 tons, were killed while the only British fatality announced was the death of a man aboard the steamer Gripfast, 1,109 tons. There were several wounded on these and other ships.

The German raiders cruised off the east coast for three hours until fighting planes, anti-aircraft fire and lowering fuel forced a halt.

Low clouds enabled the German planes, mostly Heinkels, to elude the British fighters and British sources suggested that Germany had gambled that low ceilings and rain would keep defense planes on the ground.

Foreign Women Teach Local Girls How To Be Successful in U. S. A.

(This is the first of three articles on women from foreign countries who have made some of the biggest fortunes in salaries in America. The first deals with some Hollywood stars who have been high earners over a period of years.)

By ALBERT W. WILSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — That annual peek the government gives the public into the nation's fattest pay envelopes reveals that women from abroad are not only showing their American sisters how to pick up a pretty penny—they are teaching the men a few lessons, too.

Any man's list of the most successful persons, financially, in this country probably would have to include Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Claudette Colbert and Sonja Henie. Each of these four women has cleared a cool million for herself in from two to four years—before deduction of the government tax.

Because of an unexplained technicality Garbo's salary for 1938 was not listed by the government but for the previous year her income was disclosed as $472,000. Certainly her popularity has not waned since then. Nor, presumably, her earning power.

Five Million in Ten Years

Miss Gustaffson of Stockholm, as she is known in private life, admits to being 33 and in the past ten years she is reputed to have made close to five million dollars in American movies. Whether Garbo ever really made that remark—"Ay want to be alone"—or not, she has indicated a determination to keep her millions in the Gustaffson family. Rumor persists, but only faintly, that she might some day marry Leopold Stokowski, the white-haired orchestra leader.

Back in 1910 a little Parisian girl named Lily Chauchoin came to America and as Claudette Colbert she has been near the top of the nation's salary lists for the past three years with incomes of $302,000, $355,000 and $351,000 a total of $1,008,000. The previous year it was $100,000. She is married to Dr. Joel Pressman, her second husband.

Marlene Dietrich's legs and acting have brought her a tidy fortune since her arrival from Berlin ten years ago. Her reported annual incomes are: 1938—$130,000; 1937 — $370,000, 1936 — $209 000 and 1935—$308,000.

Out of Retirement

That drop in 1938 marked the beginning of a nearly 2-year retirement after a group of theater owners issued a statement saying the public was weary of her. Now she is making them eat their words with a comeback in one of her greatest boxoffice successes. Miss Dietrich is married to Rudolf Sieber, a film director in France, but sees him only at long intervals. A grown-up daughter lives with her.

Sonja Henie, who was raised on Norwegian fish pudding by a middle class family, has probably been paid at least a million in four years of professional skating and movie making. Her film salary in 1938—not her busiest year—is listed as $113,000 and this doesn't include income from her touring ice show which grosses $1,000,000 each winter. The golden girl will be 28 next April 8 but she is the despair of press agents who try to build up romances for her.

Madeleine Carroll, a former London school teacher who landed in Hollywood without an invitation and—she says—virtually broke in 1936, collected $288,000 that year. She had her trials but radio is an added source of income and she is achieving full stardom again in the movie "Safari" with Douglas Fairbanks Jr.

Honor from Columbia

Columbia university seniors once elected Madeleine as the girl they would prefer to be marooned with on a desert isle—one place where her money would be worthless. She is divorced from a British army captain.

Maureen O'Sullivan, who came from a Dublin restaurant to Amer*ican pictures ten years ago, was* recognized as a steady big money earner in Hollywood. Another in this category is Luise Rainer, from Australia, winner of two successive film academy awards. The government listed her income as $81,000 in 1937—which probably is a poor indication of what she has earned over five years.

Many newcomers—Merle Oberon, Hedy Lamarr and others—are in the top salary positions now. Even among Hollywood writers, a woman born in Russia, Sonya Levien, is a leading earner with government income reports showing her pay increased from $62,500 in 1936 to $77,000 in 1938.

Like all other Forum programs, the meeting Sunday will be open to the public without charge and will include an open discussion period in which members of the audience will be invited to participate. The program is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

Finnish People Need Your Help

Slightly more than 250,000 Finns reside in the United States. Most of them live in the northern tier of states. About 5,000 foreign born Finns are residents of Ohio. Their record of achievement of these immigrants in the United States is excellent. They have occupied many of the poorer farm lands upon which others have failed and have converted them into successful areas. The adversity of nature in their home country has taught them how to face odds with remarkable courage and persistence. Surrender is a term that rarely registers among this element of our population. Jointly with the Swedes they established settlements on the Delaware River three hundred years ago. That event was officially celebrated by our government together with the government of Sweden and Finland in 1938.

Now is our opportunity to reveal our further appreciation of Finnish contributions to America's civilization by donating money to the Finnish Relief Fund, to be used to relieve suffering among the civilian population caused by the Soviet attempt to invade Finland.

Contributions may be made in Marion through any of the local banks, The Star office or the local chairman, George E. Planck, at his office in the Palace theater. Contributions may be made either in person or through the mail.

SCOUT AREA COUNCIL PROGRAM ARRANGED

Deputy Regional Head To Speak in Annual Meeting.

Walter Seamans, special deputy regional Boy Scout executive with headquarters in Cincinnati, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Harding Area council, Boy Scouts of America, which will be held next Tuesday night at Hotel Harding, it was announced today by Fred P. Strother, area scout executive.

Mr. Seamans will speak at a banquet to be held at the hotel at 6:30 and will discuss several phases of scouting, including the cubbing program for boys between the ages of 9 and 12.

As a special deputy regional executive, Mr. Seamans is in charge of cubbing activities in Ohio and West Virginia. Before joining the regional office he was a member of the national Boy Scout staff.

Council officers for the year will be elected at a meeting at the hotel at 4 p. m., immediately preceding the banquet. A feature of the banquet program will be the Silver Beaver award which is made annually to a council scout leader for outstanding service in the scout movement.

HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION
At last—here's an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation with its headaches, mental dullness, fatigue and sallow skin.
Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel.
Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000,000 jars have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.
Now Comes in Pleasant Tasting "Bubbling" Form!

Throat Colds and resulting SORE THROAT
need more than "Surface Treatment"
That's why gargles and salves so often fail to bring relief. For quick results, take THOXINE, the throat medicine that not only soothes the painful, congested membranes all the way down, but also quickly acts through the entire system. No opiates . . . not a laxative. Ideal for children. THOXINE must satisfy with the first pleasant dose or your money back. Don't suffer. Buy THOXINE today on this guarantee. 35c

To Check Constipation Get at Its Cause!
If constipation has you down so you feel heavy, tired and dopey, it a time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.
If you eat the super-refined food most people eat, the chances are the difficulty is simple—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.
If this common form of constipation is your trouble, eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, and drink plenty of water. All-Bran isn't a medicine—it's a crunchy, toasted cereal. And it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

FORUM PROGRAM SET FOR SUNDAY

Special "Town Hall" Discussion Scheduled.

Officers of the Marion Community Forum association today completed arrangements for a special "town hall" meeting to be held at Edison Junior High school next Sunday afternoon.

The topic for discussion will be "Placing the the Responsibility for Instruction in Social Hygiene" and the discussion leader will be Dr. Edith Hale Swift of Detroit, Mich., member of the social science faculty of Wayne university in Detroit.

Although arrangements for the Forum next Sunday were not made when the program was planned for the season, D. T. Mills, president, said today that several of the members of the planning commission believed that there should be a sixth meeting on the program and that a discussion of social hygiene problems would be of particular interest to Forumgoers. Dr. Swift has lectured extensively on social hygiene problems and recently conducted a series of eight lectures at Akron.

Denial

"D... you murder Joan Kent?" ... Sergeant asked Joan's ...

... ball turned his eyes full ...officer. He made no mo... there wasn't a sound in ... Mrs. MacDonald bent ... as though she were go... peak, then leaned back ... r again without saying ...

... said Mr. Kimball. His ... was low, but the room ... still that it sounded like ... ion.

... MacDonald sighed. And I ... d in my sweater pocket for my cigarette case, but Dirck, seeing me, gave me one of his and held the match. It was the first time I'd ever heard a person asked if he'd committed a murder. It left me pretty limp.

Long turned to the girl's mother. "Is there anything you can tell me that might be of some help?"

She shook her head. Christmas, she said, was the last time she'd seen Joan. She'd been home for a few days with her friend, Tim Lathrop. Except for him she knew none of Joan's friends.

"Were you on good terms with your daughter?" The Sergeant was watching her closely.

She stared at him, her eyes bright with indignation, but her reply when it came was hesitating. "Yes," she said. "There was a little trouble at one time, but it would have nothing to do with this."

Everyone always said that I imagined the Sergeant got very tired of hearing it.

But his voice was patient when he said, "I'd be very much obliged if you'd tell us about it, Madam."

Mrs. MacDonald began with some reluctance. "We got along very well in the past year. Before, we never actually quarreled, but Joan was headstrong and I felt that her stepfather gave her her own way too much. A little restraining doesn't harm a girl of her age. She resented what she thought was interference on my part, so she decided to live in the city. After she left home, working gave her more of a sense of responsibility, and since then we've had no difficulty. In fact, up until Christmas she was planning to come home again to live."

"What made her change her mind?" The Sergeant leaned forward tensely as if unwilling to miss even a word.

"We didn't approve of her seeing Mr. Lathrop so much. We felt that she was wasting her time on him, but she wouldn't consider breaking off with him. And of course if she were living at home he would have come to see her frequently."

"You believe, though, that she no longer held any resentment against you?"

"I'm certain of that. We got along very well."

Mrs MacDonald seemed such a mild, lifeless sort of person that, hearing her talk, I could never imagine her making trouble for any one. The Sergeant seemed perfectly satisfied with her explanation.

And then she asked if it were necessary for her to stay in New York. Her husband was ill and she felt that she should be with him. The Sergeant told her that she could go. Up to that time I couldn't see that she was hiding anything. But as she got up to leave, her eyes as they swept the room held a look of—well, fear wasn't too strong a word.

"Guilty Look"

"May we make arrangements for the funeral?" she asked uncertainly. "Thursday, perhaps?"

The Sergeant nodded and turned away.

"Thank you," she said, and it seemed to me that she was reluctant to leave. She stopped when she reached the doorway. "May I see Joan?" Her voice had a little break in it.

The Sergeant, who was sitting at the desk now, jerked his head around. "I'm sorry, Madam. The body had to be taken to Bellevue —an autopsy, you see."

I hadn't realized that. And it was a relief to know that the room next to mine was empty now.

Mrs MacDonald must have been shocked by it. She didn't move and there was no sign of emotion on her pale face, but when she turned to the door she stumbled blindly. Her son hurried to her side, murmured a few words, then held the door open for her. After she left he crossed the shop rapidly and went upstairs.

Dirck bent close to me. "I'm going to stick around for a while," Chris."

"I wish you would," I whispered back. "But I guess the Sergeant has changed his mind about me."

He patted my hand. "You have a guilty look," he said, then jumped briskly to his feet and spoke to Sergeant Long.

"I don't want to interfere in any way, Sergeant, but I wonder if you'd mind my doing a little sleuthing on my own." He smiled as he said sleuthing.

The Sergeant raised an eyebrow. "One of these amateurs, huh? Well, go ahead." And with a wit that I thought him incapable of, he said, "Brilliant young sleuth outwits the flat-footed detective."

He picked up his hat and coat and walked down the shop. "I've got to go now. Be here again before five. If Kincaid or Lathrop show up, Mr. Kimball, keep them in here. Norton will keep an eye on them."

Dirck signalled me to go upstairs, so I left him with Mr. Kimball.

I felt better now that he was around. So much better, in fact, that when I got upstairs and found a cablegram poked under my door I didn't even get annoyed.

And the message: HAVING A FINE TIME WISH YOU WERE HERE LOVE TOBY didn't bother me a bit.

"That for you, Mr. Maugham," I said as I threw the cable in the fireplace and put a match to it.

"Are you destroying evidence?" came a soft voice from the doorway.

I turned quickly, startled. Dirck was grinning at me.

"Yes," I said.

He stooped to pick up the envelope. I'd dropped it in the doorway.

"Chris," he said seriously, "when you destroy things, do it thoroughly. Don't taunt me with the remains. Who is cabling you?"

"An old aunt," I said.

"I'd like to believe that."

I laughed shakily and lighted a cigarette. It was demoralizing, that soft blur in his voice. And suddenly Bermuda seemed very far away and Toby a strange and unfamiliar figure.

Furious At Myself

Then he crossed the room and took me by the shoulder. "See here," he said, "you aren't letting this fracas here in the house get you, by any chance?"

I shook my head.

He looked at me keenly. "You are pretty pale, you know."

For some absurd reason I felt like crying. "No, really," I faltered. "I'm all right." My voice sounded queer.

"Are you sure?" he said gently.

I was furious at myself. I felt like a child who has fallen down and hurt herself, but don't cry until she saw her mother. All that had happened during the day crowded into my mind—waking to hear Sarah screaming; that terrible reflection of Joan Kent in her bright dressing gown; Mr Kimball's white face as he stood in the hall; Sergeant Long's hammering questions; the tense faces of Richard MacDonald and his mother.

I shivered and pressed my face against Dirck's shoulder, and for a moment or two I stood there with Dirck stroking my hair, until finally I pushed away from him and sat down in the nearest chair.

"I don't usually spill over like this, Mr. Kolff."

"You may cry on my shoulder any time you like," he said in a matter-of-fact voice. "How have you been lately, anyway?" He sat down in the wing chair by the fireplace.

"Fine, thank you," was the most brilliant answer I could manage. I was furious that he made me feel so self-conscious.

He looked at me, and that calm blue gaze of his seemed to penetrate every crack in my armor.

"I'm glad you called me," he said finally. "I was wondering whether you'd returned from Paris."

"I got in two weeks ago."

"Except for the pallor, and that's not unbecoming, you're looking keen."

"So are you."

Well, we kept up a bright conversation like that for about five minutes and then he looked at me and we both laughed, and Dirck drew his chair closer to mine.

"You know you scared me to death in Paris," he admitted.

"How?"

"Well, that day I took you to tea everyone that passed the table spoke to you. And Toby Maugham was supposed to be staying in Paris just because you were there. You were so damn popular I felt like the flying tail to the kite."

"Jealous?"

He shook his head. "I like my women domestic."

I laughed. "I'm no more domestic than I ever was."

"No, as usual you're stirring up the dust. This is a nice mess you've moved yourself into."

I leaned back in the chair lazily. "I'm glad you're here. The Sergeant had me intimidated this afternoon."

Dirck took out his pipe and lighted it. "I don't think he'll arrest you. There are too many others on his mind. And do you know, it's interesting down here. I've just taken a quick look over that shop of Kimball's. He's got beautiful things there, and some very rare books. It's odd to find a shop like this in such a neighborhood. I should think there'd be very little demand for such things down here."

Fever in Babies

What is the danger of fever in a new-born baby?

It has always been considered to be perfectly normal for a baby to have an increase of temperature the first, second or third day after birth. This has been ascribed to the dehydration of the first few hours of life after the mother's blood support is suddenly cut off, or to toxic substances in the mother's milk. All this was taken more or less as a matter of course, but the observations of Tadde, at the Children's Hospital at Pisa, Italy, have placed the thing on a more exact basis.

The temperature of the infant is always different from that of the mother. Strangely enough, the temperature of twins is always different. During the first few hours of life the temperature diminishes, but in the course of the first day it rises and may continue high until the seventh or eighth day of life. No relationship was found between this rise and early breast feeding or, in fact, any other feeding factor.

The only sensible conclusion is that different babies have different liabilities or regulation of bodily temperatures.

Does infection of the ear and resulting mastoid disease have any relation to weather?

Yes. The incidence of mastoid disease follows the general curve of the incidence of the common cold. In a Chicago hospital for children a chart was made of the frequency of mastoid operations in relation to temperature and weather change. It was found that change is more important than temperature itself. Middle ear infection and mastoid infection in children are precipitated in the wake of fall in atmospheric temperature — cold front or polar front, when the functional status of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat is changed.

Social Affairs

THE fortieth anniversary of the organization of the Advance club, third oldest club in the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, was observed with a guest dinner last evening at Hotel Harding. Honor guests for the occasion were Mrs. E. K. Clark and Mrs. E. H. Cowan, charter members. Dr. Bronson Price of the department of psychology at Ohio State university, was a guest speaker and music for the occasion was by Mrs. Eugene Auld, soprano, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kay Schneider.

Gladioli, snapdragons and sweet peas decorated the tables which were lighted with ivory candles in crystal candelabra. Grace was spoken by E. N. Hale and greetings were extended by Mrs. George Myers, president of the club. During the dinner hour Diana Rose Sakel and Gene Andrews, accompanied by Miss Jayne Melby, presented a program of song and dance numbers.

Mrs. E. H. Morgan was toastmaster for the anniversary program. Mrs. Cowan gave reminiscences of the club's 40 years' activities, and Mrs. J. W. Jolley told of the work of Mrs. Clark in whose home the club was organized. Mrs. Louis E. Michel gave the toast to the guests and K. H. Marshall responded with a toast to the clubwomen. Mrs George Frank read a toast given by Mrs. J. W. Freeland on the occasion of the club's silver anniversary, and paid a tribute to the work she had done in the club Miss Clara Kownlke read a toast written by Mrs. G. M. Knauer also for the club's twenty-fifth anniversary.

Mrs. H. R. Finney, program chairman, presided for the program. Mrs. Auld sang "What Is a Song," by Pearl Curran, and "Boasts of Mine," by Robert Louis Stevenson and set to music by Anne Stratton Miller.

Dr. Bronson talked on the Russian-Finnish situation and gave his experiences as a survivor of the Athenia disaster. He was a passenger on the boat, returning from a genetics conference at Glasgow, Scotland.

For roll call the members presented their guests who were: Mrs. Charles Waters, Miss Emma Thompson, Mrs. John F. Lacey, Mrs. J. L. Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Veritzen Reveals He Intends to Replace Olga's Gems.

PHILIP VERITZEN'S query so surprised me I could not answer him immediately. I could only stare at him inanely. When he had put the question to me before, he had given me to understand that his reason for attempting so magnificent a gesture as a duplication of the valuable necklace and pretending that her real one, lost on the "pirate ship," had been found, was a desire to provide for the exiled queen a patrimony of her own without which she had told him she would not marry him.

"You think that now the queen has consented to marry me even though she be penniless, I can save the money which I otherwise would have extended upon duplicating her jewels," he said. "But to me her sweet surrender of her invincible pride is so precious that no possible expenditure of time and money is too great if it bring that independence back to her."

Old Fear Returns

"But," I stammered, "will you have time to have the duplication completed before the wedding?"

I tried to control the quavering of my voice, due, I knew, to a fear that the marriage might be so long delayed that Olina, growing restive, might again disturb Mary's peace of mind by making another play for Noel. True, the girl had promised me that if she were given the role in my play which she craved, she would leave Noel and Mary alone, but although I believed her sincere, and had accepted her promise, I knew that I would feel safe about her only when her mother was Philip Veritzen's wife.

But my former employer either did not notice my agitation or purposely ignored it. He answered my question quickly, with not even a quirked eyebrow at my tremulous voice.

"As we shall be married almost immediately," he said, "of course, I cannot have the duplication completed in time. But it will be, I hope, a most welcome surprise when it does materialize, and she thinks herself, financially independent of me. Therefore, I trust you have secured the name of the jeweler."

Information Desired

"I am sorry," I said, "but I have seen Queen Olga but once or twice since you spoke to me about the matter, and there was no fitting opportunity for me to put the question to her without arousing her suspicions. You would no wish me to do that, I know."

"Oh! of course not," he said hastily. "But will you please try to get the information for me as soon as possible?"

"I will do my best," I promised equivocally, wondering the while how his regal fiancee and I could convey to him the knowledge that Olga had a tiny mark of her own upon every emerald, thus making the necklace impossible of duplication as far as her eyes were concerned. If he would only go back to his hotel, I thought, I would be able to go into conference with Olga

But that he had no intention of immediately gratifying my unspoken and inhospitable wish, I realized when he slipped his hand beneath my arm.

"Let us return to our window balcony," he said, intoning the words theatrically. "I would have words with thee."

Rehearsal Problem

I guessed what the words would be, and braced myself to hear—and deny—them.

"Did I mistake you, or do you intend writing that interpolated role for Olina and drilling her and Mary in it today?" he asked.

"I am going to make the very slight changes the interpolation demands," I said a bit stiffly, "and rehearse Olina in it, but not Mary. I can take all the other roles myself, and five minutes tomorrow morning before rehearsal will suffice for Mary."

"Don't you think," he began somewhat diffidently, an unheard of attitude from him, "that it might be a good thing to have the rehearsal this afternoon, as long as you will have the interpolated role completed?"

"I am sorry," I said, but in a voice that indicated I was completely devoid of dolor, "but, as I told you before, that will be impossible. I do not wish Mary even to think of her role today," I added mendaciously, "and I hate to stress the personal note, but I really am so fatigued that I could not possibly go through with a rehearsal."

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Remedy. It's Fine.
Quick, Comforting Relief. Saves Money. Easily Mixed.
This well-known home-mixed medicine costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy a child could do it. And it saves real money.
Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed.
Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid cough remedy and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time and children love its taste.
And for quick, blessed relief, you say it is truly wonderful. It has a remarkable action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages.
Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Marion Factories Showing Products at Road Show in Chicago This Week

Five Concerns Are Displaying Machines and Sending Groups of Sales Representatives.

Road building equipment manufactured by five Marion concerns is being exhibited at the annual meeting of the American Road Builders association in Chicago this week.

The road show, composed of exhibits of companies throughout the country, is being held throughout the week at the Chicago coliseum.

More than a score of men associated with the five Marion companies are attending the road show and sessions of the convention.

The Marion Steam Shovel Co., which is exhibiting a two and one-half yard shovel and a three-quarter yard shovel, is being represented by John P. Courright, sales manager; L. C. Mosley, sales engineer; F. B. Jennings, assistant sales engineer; L. G. Uhl, W. K. Humor, M. V. Cornell and Roy Jones, salesmen; Homer Littlefield, manager of the mining division; John Jacoby and Marion Orr, engineers; and a number of field representatives who do not live in Marion. Several other company representatives probably will go to the show later in the week, it was reported.

The Huber Manufacturing Co., which is exhibiting five pieces of road building equipment, is being represented by A. W. Newby, president; M. E. Miller, sales director; J. M. Miller, Ohio sales manager; G. N. Porter and W. E. Auckerman, salesmen, as well as a number of salesmen and engineers employed at the company's branches at Indianapolis, Ind., and Harrisburg, Pa.

Virtually the entire sales staffs of the Osgood Co. and affiliated plants are attending the show, including George Day, Osgood sales manager, Carl Schmidt, sales manager of the Hercules Co., and Don B. Smith, sales manager of the General Excavator Co. The Osgood Co. is exhibiting a one and one-half yard shovel, the General Excavator Co. is showing a three-quarter yard shovel, and the Hercules Co. is exhibiting a new type transmission case.

LOCAL GROUPS URGE AGE PENSION BOOST

Ask Legislation To Aid Move for Special Session.

Marion Central Labor Union and Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. Eagles, yesterday joined the state Union and Eagles organizations in a campaign to increase the old-age pension payments "to an amount not less than $40," and "to take the division of aid for the aged out of politics."

Committees of both local organizations sent letters to Representative Earl Thomas of Marion and State Senator D. A. Liggett of Rushsylvania, asking them to use their influence as legislators to have Governor Bricker call a special session of the state legislature on the matter of increasing the pension payments from the present maximum of $30 a month to not less than $40.

The letters also asked that the legislature pass the necessary laws to take the Division of Aid for the Aged out of politics and set up a non-political department to do the work of the division.

Signers from the union committee were William Armbruster, James Sons, W. F. Williams and Merle Mason. The Buckeye Aerie signers were C. L. Pace, president, George Lehner, A. H. Franklin and J. W. Lewis.

PRICE INCREASE AIDS FARMERS

Leaders Heartened in Face of Congressional Drive for Economy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Administration farm officials, confronted by the possibility that congress may not appropriate funds for parity payments for 1941, were heartened today by the disclosure that farm prices had started the new year at the highest level in two years.

The agriculture department said that the index of farm prices advanced three points between mid-December and mid-January to reach 99 per cent of the 1910-14 level.

This index was 5 points higher than a year earlier and the highest since mid-January, 1938. Nearly all groups of commodities participated in the advance.

Meanwhile, the house headed into one of the big fights of the congressional session—over how much to provide for farm activities. Consideration of the annual agricultural appropriation bill was expected to take all week.

At the same time, officials of the agricultural adjustment administration began figuring how they would distribute $225,000,000 in parity payments appropriated last year for distribution among farmers cooperating with 1940 production control programs. The payments are designed to lift farm purchasing power to the 1910-14 level.

Officials indicated that producers of four crops—cotton, wheat, corn and rice—would receive this money.

Division among crops would be roughly as follows: cotton $94,000,000, corn $61,000,000, wheat $46,000,000, and rice $5,000,000.

While prices received by farmers nearly equal those of the 1910-14 period, prices which farmers pay for other goods are 22 per cent higher, the department reported. Consequently, farm products have only 84.5 per cent of the purchasing power in terms of non-farm goods and services that they possessed in the pre-World war period.

The price report showed that since Jan. 15, 1938, wheat prices had increased from 51 to 75 per cent of the so-called parity price, corn from 56 to 65 per cent, cotton from 53 to 84 per cent, cottonseed from 81 to 90 per cent, rice from 62 to 70 per cent. Tobacco declined from 100 to 93 per cent. Hog prices declined from 76 to 56 per cent.

Your Income Tax

Income tax time is near at hand again and in order that all readers of The Star may be well informed as possible on this important subject, a series of short articles prepared by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, federal agency in charge of receiving returns, will be published daily during the next few weeks. Preliminary to the first article which will appear tomorrow, these fundamental facts regarding the tax are presented:

* * *

WHO? Every single person or married person not living with husband or wife who had net income of $1,000 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more, and generally, husband and wife living together, who had an aggregate net income of $2,500 or more or an aggregate gross income of $5,000 or more, must file returns. If in doubt, obtain forms and printed instructions from collector of internal revenue.

WHEN? The filing period begins January 1 and ends March 15, 1940.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? See instructions accompanying Forms 1040 A and 1040.

WHAT? Four per cent normal tax on the amount of net income in excess of the personal exemption, credit for dependents, earned-income credit, and interest on obligations of the United States and obligations of instrumentalities of the United States. Surtax on surtax net income in excess of $4,000.

Income Tax Don'ts

DON'T prepare your return without first studying the instructions accompanying the form.

DON'T procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems.

DON'T destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

DON'T fail to fill in all items and schedules required by the return.

DON'T omit explanation when such information is essential to a complete audit. This will save unnecessary expense and annoyance to both you and the government.

WILLKIE IS URGED TO SEEK PRESIDENCY

Utility Head Reveals Movement in Wooster Speech.

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 30—Wendell L. Willkie told Wooster friends last night he has received "thousands" of letters urging him to seek the presidency.

"But I'm not running for president," said the head of Commonwealth & Southern Corp. "Of course, it isn't going to happen, but if the nomination were given to me without any strings I would have to accept it. No man in middle life (Willkie is 48) and in good health could do otherwise.

"But I couldn't go out and seek delegates and make two-sided statements. I value my independence. That's what I've been fighting for all these years."

The utilities executive said the letters have arrived at the rate of 200 to 500 a week for several months, and he has answered all of them. Listed in biographies as a Democrat, he has tangled frequently with New Deal agencies—especially the Tennessee Valley Authority.

In his address at a banquet commemorating the 70th anniversary of Wooster college, Willkie viewed America's independent colleges as safeguarding the nation's liberties.

"If we ever have a threat of dictatorship in this country, the independent colleges, free from state influence, will be the last refuge of our liberties," he declared. "The lights of liberty are going out all over the world. They can be relit only in America, and only with the help of our school system."

GRANGE HEAD TALKS AT UPPER SANDUSKY

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Jan. 30—Walter F. Kirk, Ohio State grange master, addressed a meeting of 129 members of Wyandot county granges Saturday in the social rooms of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church. Mr. Kirk spoke on "Preservation of Democratic Ideals." The program was in charge of S. R. Lawrence of Nevada County Deputy Harold Cope, of Nero, introduced the speaker. Special music was provided by Edwin Lawrence, Glenn Barick, Dorothy Pfeifer, Catherine Gibson, Henry Yost, Edward Guenther, Fred Mitsch Sr., Fred Mitsch Jr. and Walter McClain.

War Scare

ANOTHER campaign to make flesh creep is getting under way. Germans are letting it be known they have patched up their differences, made up their minds to follow in the footsteps of Frederick the Great and shortly will pull out all the stops in the good old-fashioned way. Up to now they've just been fooling.

Russia, in the meantime, has announced that it is tired of fussing with the Finns and is about to get down to the business of exterminating them without further delay. The generals are taking deep breaths and barking orders. The admirals are on the bridge surveying the situation. The warming-up exercises are over, is the word. Another war scare is being talked up, despite the fact war already is in progress.

While it is certain that all belligerents are capable of battling more furiously than they have been battling, with the possible exception of the Finns, this newest fire breathing must be discounted from its face value. It does not, it cannot, mean that one side or the other is capable of winning the war merely by deciding to be furious.

In all probability the nature of the war will continue to be about the same as it has been—a deadlock indicating a long war of attrition that will end in mutual exhaustion. It was decided by the best minds in Europe after the World war that modern mass warfare made victory impossible. Everybody is destined to lose. There is no reason to think the continent's latest war is going to upset a judgment made when minds were clearer than they are now.

January Post Office

THE silly season comes during August dog days. The thing that happens in January is a hangover.

It might be called January post office; it's always hooked up one way or another with kissing.

Some professor, or self-styled health expert, says kissing is a bad thing—spreads influenza, sore throats and the common cold.

Someone else with equal appreciation of publicity says 'tain't so, that kissing is friendly and should be carried on 12 months a year.

But they never explain what kissing or not kissing has to do with the colds that just happen. A fellow takes elaborate precautions, never kissing anyone unless they kiss him first, and catches cold anyway, probably because that's his January destiny. No wonder men begin to brood over kissing in January. Either way they lose.

Reasonable Doubt

THREE things are against the red army in Finland—Finns, weather and Russian incompetence. Of the three it begins to appear that the important may be the weather and incompetence.

Latest predicament of the reds, like those that have preceded it, tells of armies stranded far from supply bases, doomed to perish under the combined onslaught of extreme cold, extreme hunger and the guns of the enemy. The guns are useful only for hastening the job.

It is a question whether Russia could have invaded Finland this winter with an army of conquest even had the Finns been able to offer only nominal resistance, instead of well organized counter-attacks. A mass expedition through inhospitable country in sub-zero temperatures calls for more preparation than any Russian army ever mustered.

A suggestion that cold weather and Russian muddling may be at least as important as Finnish resistance does not detract from the bravery and skill of the defenders. It only recognizes the well known fact that even a very good army can be defeated by fatal weaknesses behind its own lines and unusual weather—and Russia's army isn't good.

Narrowing It Down

INTERIOR SECRETARY ICKES needs no introduction. His reputation as a pepper pot precedes him.

So without further ado, here is Mr. Ickes talking about the chairman of the committee to investigate un-American activities, Rep. Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, Garner man, anti-New Dealer. The secretary's diatribe was set off in connection with decision of the house of representatives to give the Dies committee $75,000 to keep going this year.

"Undoubtedly there are activities in this country that we should know more about so that we can safeguard ourselves against them," fumed the secretary. "But—and I am talking now about Mr. Dies—for any one to employ the un-American methods he has employed to safeguard Americanism is to make a travesty of the whole thing. The investigation should go on, but in view of the widespread doubt as to his methods and interest he should step aside and let someone else carry on."

This says plainly it's not his committee but Mr. Dies that is obnoxious to Mr. Ickes and those who think as he does. It's a scrap of information that seems worth filing away for future reference, as neat a bit of yes-butting as has been heard since the dawn of the New Dispensation.

News Behind the News

Foreign Trade Reports Have Been Good and Are Continuing So.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Mr. Roosevelt's economists are blinking from the glaringly bright exports reports and changing their minds about the amount of foreign trade to be expected from the war. The highest foreign trade for any month in ten years was shown in preliminary commerce department figures for December. Shipments of our products abroad increased $71,000,000 from November.

This has been a little blinding to those prophets who had confidently expected the war would cause a shrinking in the export field and they are not quite sure what to make of it. The increases are only partly due to war orders. Only $21,000,000 was accounted for by exports of arms and ammunition, leaving a $50,000,000 increase for all other products.

Paul Mallon

Officialdom is exceptionally secretive about who is taking what from us. Figures are considered confidential military information in this economic war, but you can bank on these following disclosures:

In the first three months of the war there was no increase to the United Kingdom and France. In December, however, our exports to France were 227 per cent above the previous December, or more than three times as much. December exports to the United Kingdom were up only 6½ per cent over the previous period.

These increases to the two belligerents are largely due to the delay in buying until after the arms embargo was lifted in mid-November. There were practically no airplane shipments to Great Britain and France during September and October. We shipped about $25,000,000 worth of planes and parts to Great Britain and France in December, $2,500,000 in November. This is hardly enough to make a mile of difference in the general export figures.

What Britain has been taking from us in substantial quantities are: patroleum products, metal working machinery, trucks and chemicals. France has been taking all these and in addition copper and cotton.

In the first three months of the war our exports were 17 per cent above last year, entirely due to increased exports to neutrals. Scandinavian countries bought 70 per cent more; Canada about 42 per cent more; Latin-American countries 40 per cent more. Much of the South American export increase was due to metals, notably iron and steel. We also increased shipments to Japan of scrap iron and heavy steel. Russia has been purchasing unprecedented amounts of ferro alloys and copper, apparently for Germany. The reds got more than $4,000,000 worth of copper in December, four times as much as the preceding month and 4,000 times as much as their normal monthly 1936 average.

Leveling.

This foreign demand is continuing to expand up to the present moment. Despite its weight, industrial production is failing to measure up to January seasonal increases. Inside estimates cut the federal reserve board index of production down to 121 in January, off 7 points from December.

A further decline to 116 is expected in February; and 111 in March.

This means that the excited war buying by American retailers who wanted to stock up in anticipation of higher prices is beginning to level off. Inventory buying will diminish until the end of February. Then our production will probably be geared to consumption plus exports, which should assure a production level of around 110—not so bad.

How we stand can be measured from the following monthly business chart in which all figures are based on 1923-25 averages as 100, and all except payrolls are adjusted for seasonal variations.

	AVERAGE	INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION	FACTORY EMPLOYMENT	FACTORY PAYROLLS	FREIGHT CAR LOADINGS	DEPT. STORE SALES	BUILDING CONTRACTS
1929	119	126.0	110.4	107	111	117
1932	64	66.3	46.7	55	69	26
1937	110	108.8	102.0	78	92	59
1938	86	89.7	77.5	62	85	67
Nov. 1939	105	96.7	90.7	71	88	71
Dec. 1939	124	103.4	101.8	82	95	83
Jan. Est'd.	128	104.4	103.9	78	96	80
	121	103.0	100.1	78	95	80

Eliminating the seasonal factor production is diminishing only slightly. Steel accounted for two-thirds of the 7-point drop. Although the steel rule may go below 80 next month, recent renewed buying of railway equipment will help hold it up. There will be auto buying of steel in the spring.

Retail trade is holding up well.

Another Visit with a Prospective "First Family."

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR VANDENBERG

This is the second in a series of weekly articles telling you about the families of possible candidates for president of the United States.

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—This reporter climbed onto the platform at the '36 Republican convention and asked Senator Arthur Vandenberg, of Michigan, "Where' the Missus?" He grinned up at a bank of 3,000 seats and said, "She's that good looking brunet up there. I sent her the orchids she's wearing."

There were plenty of brunets and plenty of orchids. But after trotting up and down the aisles, I decided one brunet had brighter eyes than the rest. I sidled up and said, "Mrs. Vandenberg?" It was.

"What are you doing up here?" I whispered.

She whispered back, "Piloting four constituents around. O-o, How I wish I were in the press box with you."

That's the way they both started: behind typewriters.

He was an editor in Grand Rapids at 22. She was a reporter in Chicago.

His Father A Harness-Maker

They are both of English-Dutch extraction. She is from Fort Wayne, Ind. Her mother hoped she'd be a pianist. He is from a small Michigan town where the depression of the 90's put his harness-maker father on the skids.

When the father died he made the son promise he'd always be a Republican. Now the Republicans (some of them) have him labeled the party's white hope for 1940.

Both Vandenbergs went to Ann Arbor. They met at a J-hop. "Look out," said her escort. "Arthur's engaged." However, he did take her dancing.

They were graduated and forgot each other. She taught in Saginaw. Then went to work for the Chicago charities. He went to Grand Rapids and entered newspapering.

She Was 'Sally Joy Brown'

After two years of charity work, she landed on the Chicago Tribune as "Sally Joy Brown," the woman who told other women how to earn money at home. She's never gotten over finding jobs for people, preferably girls. Recently she made a ten-strike for a young Washington lad. He read her a short story he'd written. She said, "Why that's a novel." He expanded it. It sold.

It was getting a job for someone that made her path cross Arthur Vandenberg's again in 1918. In Detroit she tried to arrange lectures for a poor war veteran, and wrote a friend, "Isn't Athur Vandenberg running a paper in Grand Rapids? Get his help for this man."

By that time Vandenberg was a widower with three small children. He remembered the brown-eyed girl he'd danced with at school, drove to Detroit. Three

It was Thursday, Jan. 30, 1930.

James Bruen Fisher, 86, Marion postmaster from 1899 to about 1905, died at his home in Columbus. He was a brother of Charles C. Fisher, Marion attorney.

A report of a survey of the national industrial conference board covering 12 industrial cities in four states showed that living costs in Marion were among the lowest in the country. Four representative smaller cities were included and the cost in Marion was the lowest. It showed that the cost of maintaining a family of four members in Marion "on a standard of living below which a family in the United States should not be allowed to fail" was $1,442. The survey was made in 1927.

A group of friends gave a surprise party for Mrs. Harry High at her home on Superior street in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Ethel Berry was elected president of the Pandora club when it met with Miss Cora Ream of Carhart street.

It was Friday, Jan. 30, 1920.

A dispatch from the Hague reported "despite the dislike for their unwelcome guest, there's apparently growing determination among the Dutch that the ex-kaiser should not be surrendered to the Allies. While Foreign Minister Van Karsbeek is standing firm in his opposition to yielding up the former emperor for trial, Dutch officials emphasize that this attitude should not be accepted as reflecting pro-Germanism or friendliness for the erstwhile war lord."

It was announced that the Knights of Columbus would put on a home-talent minstrel show April 5 at the Grand theater.

M. L. Wilson announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for clerk of courts at the August primaries.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Williams of Blaine avenue.

Branch officers of the Cleveland Discount Co. entertained 45 guests at a banquet here. Judge Walter D. Meals of Cleveland, counsel for the company, was toastmaster and briefly outlined the purpose and business of the company. W. J. Stevenson of Cleveland, vice president, spoke on "Our Work in Marion."

The feature picture at the Marion theater was D. W. Griffith's "True Heart Susie" starring Lillian Gish, Robert Harron, George Fawcett and Clarine Seymour and the Grand was featuring "Better Times," advertised as a "photo-play of optimism, happiness and rare humor."

General Worth Paddock, head of the G. W. Paddock Coal Co., died at his home on South Prospect street at the age of 62.

Mrs. W. H. Baker was hostess to the Modern Embroidery club at her home on Patton street.

The Marion High School basketball team defeated Bucyrus at the Marion Y. M. C. A. gym, 37-7. In the lineups were, Marion: Knachel, Irey, Weeks, Sifritt, Goodsell, Vigor, Tschanen, Wiedemann and Hamilton, and Bucyrus: Lerch, Volk, Meck, Parks, Jones, McMichael, Keefe and Sugor.

Little Nations of Europe Seen As Pace Makers in Culture and Civilization.

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

A CURIOUS opinion seems to have grown up of late years, namely, that the great nations of Europe are most representative of European culture and civilization, that the "inevitable" course of history must be in the direction of merger, combination and centralization, and that the creation of huge monolithic states represents progress and efficiency.

The phrases "self-contained continental units," "Lebensraum," "spheres of influence," all represent this trend of thinking, as do the revolutions of Communism and Nazism.

By many people the small nations are regarded as leftovers of a more casual and inefficient era. Just as Marxian political parlance refers to "masses" rather than "people," so "mass" states are somehow accepted as superior to or ahead of little nations. We are hypnotized by the idea of size. If something is bigger, it must somehow be better.

If a good society is to be measured in terms of military and political power, then the attitude is justifiable. In the long run Soviet Russia can defeat Finland as Finland stands, alone, or with only backdoor support.

Germany could certainly pick off, one by one, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland, Belgium and all the small states to the south, if no great combination of powers stopped her.

But if we define good societies in democratic, which is to say human, terms, then the little nations—those which have had sufficient time to find and develop their own way of life—are superior to the great states on nearly every count.

A Democratic Test

I presume a democratic test to be the cultural and material welfare of the people; the degree of internal stability and tranquility; the efficiency of government; the incorruptibility of courts; the opportunities open to the individual; the level of popular education; the dignity and security of the average citizen.

According to these tests, which are, in the American doctrine, the objectives of all reasonable government, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland and the late Czechoslovakian Republic represent progress, and the great Nazi and Soviet mergers represent reaction.

Not all of the small states created after the war by the peace treaties are satisfactory examples, to be sure. But they have had only twenty years of history, and they have been, from the beginning, the puppets and tools of great powers.

Each one of them inherited many of the problems of the greater state from which it was carved and each celebrated its independence by an orgy of chauvinism.

Yet it would seem that small states recover more quickly from chauvinism than great states—no doubt because they must, in order to live. The last sincere supporters of the League of Nations have been the little states; and if all Europe consisted of little states, Europe would, I firmly believe, have before this, sought freedom and security through confederation.

One-third of the population of Europe lives in such small states, even today. But since 1938, fifty million human beings, formerly residents of small or middle-sized states, have been absorbed into Germany or Soviet Russia. In 1938 47 per cent of Europe lived in small states; today that percentage is reduced to 33⅓ per cent.

Few Advantages

What, under even the best circumstances—circumstances that do not exist, circumstances that presume that the new citizens would be treated as equals, as they are not—what does this tendency mean in the long run, to the people, as individual citizens?

It means that each will pay more taxes than he has ever paid; that he will get proportionately less education and social welfare for his money; that he will have vastly less to say about the conduct of his private and public affairs, and that he will carry a much heavier load of collective debt.

In exchange he has the doubtful satisfaction of a flag that inspires terror, and a greater security against aggression.

If security against military aggression could be assured him as a

Mr. Club Sends His Newsp Another Batch of Provoc Material from Mother E

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Glub, the reporter from the planet V who has been on earth for some time st ing life on this globe, has favored us wi carbon copy of another of the articles he dispatched to his paper, the Venus Star.

THE Earth: Mr. Jones, who has been friend and mentor during my visit to part of this planet known as the U States, was comparing notes with me last on political customs here and on Venus.

He was interested in my statement that our public officials are chosen by popular no person is permitted to offer himself public office—that, instead, our people jus for those Venusians deemed best qualifie office, with the persons receiving the most being required by our laws to serve, regar of their personal wishes.

I explained to Mr. Jones that the pu of this system is to ensure the best exe ability on our planet in public office and surprised to learn from him that whil public officials here are also chosen by lar vote, the individual himself decides his qualifications for office and goes t the voters on that basis.

In short, instead of the voters telling a that he is the best man available for the man himself tells the voters he i best. When I asked Mr. Jones what tran in the event it developed the man's stat of his ability was overdrawn and erro he said nothing transpired. He said the let it go at that. There is no responsibility ever involved, which must strike my read quite strange.

MR. JONES was surprised when I told that on Venus every citizen who w garded as a potential office holder wa quired to make and file a public statem exactly what he would do for the coun elected and that after election he was gi reasonable period of time to make goo his promises. Then if the promises rem unfulfilled, he was tried before a jury peers.

I explained to Mr. Jones that if the o holder was found criminally responsible f non-fulfillment of the promises, which is through any neglect on his own part part of his associates, he was quietly away and dropped off the planet, along his associates. However, I also explaine eminently just phase of our law which pr for civil action by the people of Venus a an officeholder whose non-fulfillment of ises is due not to criminal neglect but t his own inefficiency or stupidity.

I related to him the case, quite famil my readers, of our former chief executive perian, who was sued by the people of for damages for his failure to fulfill c pre-election promises he had made. I tol Jones how it was set forth in the bill a Hesperian that because of their comple ceptance of his promises the people had tained serious business losses, and even social order had been upset for a long

IT WILL be recalled by my readers th political organization with which Hes was affiliated at the time was also made fendant to the procedings and that all usians rejoiced in the verdict of 20 t that was returned against Hesperian an organization. I believe this still stands record recovery by the people of Ven damages incurred through the non-fulfi of promises by an officeholder.

Mr. Jones seemed deeply interested i statement of this case. He said, however in the United States it was expected of offering himself for office to make the glowing promises, but that it was not ex he would fulfill these promises if elected. I asked Mr. Jones where they dropped s man, he said they did not drop him any

"With us, promising is just a matter of cal form," he said. "If we took to droppin promisers off our planet the way you Venus, there would probably be serious plaints from Mars, or whatever that below us is, that we were littering up premises."

He said here again there was no indi or collective responsibility involved. He the people of the United States could no a person they elected to office into com non-fulfillment of promises on criminal gr and he was inclined to doubt that they even have any basis for a civil actio damages.

"I am afraid that those officeholders foo own political parties, too," he said.

Tourney Time Draws Near for Marion District Cagers

County's Meet Will Start Things on Feb. 15; Other Plans Set.

By CHARLES HOSTETLER
Marion Star Sports Editor

SCHOLASTIC quintets are on the brink of a February whirlpool that will send them round-and-round in regularly scheduled games before whipping them into tournament competition which ends with the crowning of state class A and B champions at the state fairgrounds colliseum in Columbus, March 16.

First barrages in tourney warfare will be fired in mid-month when Marion county league clubs open their local meet. Marion Harding and other class A clubs in this section will begin tournament stands Feb. 27, with the locals engaged in the central district meet at Delaware. Initial tourney competition for Marion St. Mary will come late in the month when the Saints enter the sectional class B event at Westerville.

To Meet Feb. 12

Already plans have been made for county, sectional and district meets. School officials will meet here Feb. 12 to draw pairings for first round of county tournament games. The tourney will be staged at the Marion Steam Shovel gymnasium, Feb. 15-17-22-24, with the three top clubs becoming eligible for sectional play at Westerville. Teams finishing in the first four spots in the league standings will be seeded to prevent them from meeting in initial tourney duels.

Drawings for the central meet at Delaware, in which Harding High's quinet will be entered, are scheduled for Delaware Saturday, Feb. 24— Tentative plans call for playing the tourney over a period of six nights. Because there are 17 teams, one more than the round number of 16, which would enable pairings to be made without byes, the seventeenth team will be eliminated in a one-game first-round contest Tuesday night, Feb. 27. Four of the eight second-round games are slated for Thursday night, Feb. 29, with the remaining four second-round games Friday, March 1.

Finals on March 9

The complete third round will be played Saturday, March 2, with the four winners returning the following Friday, March 8, for two semi-final contests. The two survivors will stage their championship tilt Friday night, March 9, with the semi-final losers playing a preliminary for the consolation championship.

Last year there were 18 teams but Lancaster shifted to the southeastern tourney at Athens. Hilliards, which came into the class A tournament last winter, has dropped back into class B this season, but its position will be taken over by Grove City, returning to class A, after two seasons in the B section.

Bexley, district champs, will defend its title in the tourney. The other 16 competing teams are Marion Harding, Columbus Aquinas, Central, East, Grandview, North, South and West, Circleville, Delaware Wilis, Grove City, London, Mt. Vernon, Newark, Washington C. H. and Westerville.

Class A and B teams in other parts of the Marion district will be playing in the following tourneys, class A at Findlay, Feb. 28-29, March 1-2-8-9, at Sandusky, March 1-2-8-9 and class B at Carey, Feb. 29, March 1-2-7-8-9, at Fremont, Feb. 28-29, March 2-7-8 and at Lima Shawnee, Feb. 29, March 1-2-8-9.

TIE SEEMS CERTAIN IN DELAWARE COUNTY

Ostrander, Sunbury, Hyatts All Keep Winning.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Jan. 30—Possibility of a tie for the Delaware county high school league basketball championship appeared more likely today with the consistent victories of Ostrander, defending crown-wearers, and Hyatts and Sunbury, which have been deadlocked for first place during the last several weeks.

Only two sets of games remain on the current schedule, one round to be played Friday night and the other on Feb. 9. County tournament play will begin Feb. 15.

Ostrander may be due to drop out of the lead Friday night when the club entertains Berlin, a team that has been on the leaders' heels all season. Hyatts is touted to win at Ashley and Sunbury is the favorite to emerge victorious at Galena. Other games this week are Bellpoint at Orange, Brown at Powell, Harlem at Radnor.

Last week's duels saw Hyatts edge Radnor, 25-23. Ostrander whip Ashley, 30-25; Sunbury defeat Harlem, 37-28; Berlin swamp Bellpoint, 47-34 and Powell smother Orange, 38-17. Montgomery of Ostrander was the week's leading individual pointmaker, rolling up 25 against Ashley.

Standings are:

Sports Go to War

By The Associated Press

It hasn't been so long since the "sports for the fun of it" days in Europe. Four years ago peacetime athletes competed for medals and Olympic supremacy. Skiers sped down twisting mountain slopes in friendly competition with representatives of other nations. Now ghostlike soldier skiers, carrying guns, are a major factor in Finland's surprising battle against the Russians. Cycling, favorite European leisure pastime, has produced efficient, mobile units for armies. Even on the seas another phase of sports, rowing, takes its place in the grim life and death business of war as illustrated in the picture above.

List of Unbeaten Ohio High School Quintets Shrinks

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30—Middletown and New Philadelphia in Class A, and Beach City of Stark county in Class B—those are the leaders of Ohio's high school basketball teams as the scholastic cagers prepare for the February campaign.

The Middies and New Philly have piled up a dozen straight wins to top the 235 Class A quintets, while Beach City has 15 in a row to pace the 017 Class B entrants.

Lynchburg of Highland county, last week's Class B. top-notcher, was knocked off the peak after 16 consecutive victories, Fairfield Township taking a 30-19 verdict. The most stunning setback of the week, however, was the 24-21 conquest of little Wapakoneta over Bellefontaine's mighty men who had won 10 in a row. It was the first loss by Bellefontaine in two sessons of regular play, the only defeat last year coming in the state tournament.

Still unbeaten in Class A, in addition to the two leaders, are Mount Vernon and Cincinnati Woodward with 11, Canton McKinley with 10, and Grandview and Cleveland Collinwood with nine each.

The Class B "clean record" squads include: Hoytville, Parkman, Smithfield and South Amherst with 14; North Canton (state champion) and Columbiana with 13; Ohio School for Deaf and Fairfield Township of Columbiana county with 11; and Wyoming and Canton St. John with nine.

BATTLE LOOMS FOR RIVAL CAGE TEAMS

Earl Dairy and Ralph's Service May Decide Issue.

Possibility of two of the city's topnotch independent basketball teams meeting in a duel to decide their individual claim to front ranking loomed here today as challenges traveled between Earl Dairy and Ralph's Snappy Service quintets.

The affair began over reports of a game played Sunday at the Armory in which the Dairymen triumphed, 33-28. Ralph's, however, got the decision when the foes were unable to put a complete roster of eligible players on the court. The win permitted Ralph's to cop an undisputed title in the Sunday league.

Asserting that his regular team can repeat the Sunday performance, Eugene Earl, co-manager of the Dairymen, has challenged Ralph's club to a contest "anytime, anywhere" to decide the merits of their respective teams.

M'COY SIGNS UP WITH ATHLETICS

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan 30—Connie Mack's dream of one last great championship team may be realized in 1941, Earle Mack, son and assistant to the 77-year-old leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, predicted today as he left for home a winner in the most heated bidding contest for a player major league baseball has ever known.

In the younger Mack's pocket was a contract signed by Benny McCoy, the free agent second baseman, obtained at a cost of a $45,000 bonus and an agreement for a $10,000 annual salary for 1940 and 1941.

TOLEDO LOSES LEAD

By The Associated Press

Toledo university's Rockets went traveling last night and lost the Ohio basketball lead. A crack DePaul squad dropped the Ohioans, 37 to 35, in a Chicago game that was tied up six times. Toledo was on top at the half, 18 to 17. Center Bob Gerber scored 13 points as the Rockets suffered their third defeat in 20 starts. Miami moved into the state lead on its record of 8 to 1.

HITS SEMESTER RULE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30—C. M. Sims, principal of Piqua Central High school and former president of the state high school athletic board, fired the opening shot today in a campaign to repeal or amend the mid-year eligibility ruling under which a host of Ohio scholastic basketball players were forced out of competition for the remainder of the year.

GLOVER FIGHTS TO CLEVELAND FINALS

Mansfielder, Who Battled Here, Wins Semi-Final Bout.

One Mansfielder leather-slinger, winner in last year's Golden Gloves boxing tournament here, was still in the running today for top laurels in the open division of the Plain Dealer's annual amateur classic at Cleveland.

He is Beauford Glover, 135-pound colored battler, who defeated Jimmy Kintz of Cleveland in last night's semi-final scrap. Glover won the lightweight title here last year by scoring a second round technical kayo over Dan Matthews of Marion.

Two other Mansfielders were eliminated last night. Paul Carbetta, flyweight champ here last year, was defeated by Buddy Smallwood of Akron in the semi-finals. Al Sauer, who is known here although he did not participate in the 1939 meet, lost a decision to Val Boston of Cleveland in the 160-pound novice class.

BARNEY ROSS MOVES

Barney Ross, former welterweight champion, is again taking Chicago as his home after two years in New York.

HORSES GO BIG

Sales of harness colts in the fall of 1939 smashed all price records, pointing to big 1940 and 1941 seasons.

WYANDOT CO. AWAITS "GAME OF THE YEAR"

Wharton and Harpster, Tied for Lead, To Clash.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Jan. 30—The "game of the year" in Wyandot county high school basketball league is slated for Saturday night when pace-setting Harpster and Wharton teams lock horns on the latter's court. Both have won nine in 10 starts and their meeting is likey to decide the 1940 pennant race.

Last week Harpster bumped off McCutchenville, 57-37, with Pivoiman Dillion taking county-wide individual laurels by piling up 21 points for the winners. His teammate, Forward Chailain, collected 17 for second spot in the parade of scorers.

Wharton slopped Nevada, 32-15, staging a final round spurt after leading, 11-10 at halftime. Marseilles trounced Eden, 39-23, and Salem defeated Sycamore, 42-22, in other league duels.

In addition to the Harpster-Wharton "dream game" this week's schedule takes Nevada to Eden, Sycamore to McCutchenville and Marseilles to Salem. Current standings are:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Wharton	9	1	.900
Harpster	9	1	.900
Salem	7	3	.700
McCutchenville	6	4	.600

GILES URGES ERNIE TO RETURN TO REDS

But Lombardi Stays in California Despite Plea.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30—In a corner window on the fourth floor of a big building downtown stands a lighted lamp.

Its flickering beams, almost lost in the snows and mists of the Ohio valley, carry a message to a city in faraway California, to a fellow in Oakland. It's simply, "Come back."

Now Warren C. Giles has put the lamp in the window for Ernie. The general manager of the National league champion Reds at one time was thinking seriously of shipping the big fellow, rated loyally up and down Vine street as the best catcher in the league, to Brooklyn.

But bygones are bygones

The lamp in the window takes the form of a 250-word formal statement from Giles.

"Ernie," said the statement, "has done good work for the Reds. We want him to continue to do good work for the Reds and not for some other club."

Ernie, reportedly the highest paid catcher in the league with a $20,000 stipend for 1939, contended that the 1940 contract called for a $6,000 cut.

Williams Complains As Angel Wins Unusual Wrestle Til

Al Williams, Chicago's former U. S. Navy wrestling champion, defeated in his free-for-all exchange with Martino Angele during last night's mat show at the Steam Shovel arena, may be able to find some consolation today in the fact that a majority of fans supported his assertion that he was "robbed."

Officially whipped when Angelo was given credit for the second consecutive fall after less than 10 minutes' ring time, Williams was far from conceding that he had met his master. In fact, Al was so sure he was still the best man within the ropes that he proceeded to punch the Buffalo Italian to the canvas and hurl him to the floor.

Angelo Wins First Round

Usually counted on to bring forth all the rough stuff in the books, Williams played on the level during the first round. He used a headlock that Angelo was able to break only by pulling hair, biting or scrambling for the ropes. Angelo's action brought on a punch-for-punch exchange and as the battlers pummeled each other to the mat they landed face up with their feet on each other's shoulders. Angelo rested on his own shoulders as he pinned Williams for the first fall, but got by with it over strong protests of the Chicagoan.

Williams was anything but smart when he clouted Referee Tom Temple to the canvas during the second. He tried to keep the official at bay while he handed Angelo a lacing and he came very near being successful. Temple yanked Williams out of a clinch with such force that the ex-gob landed back first on the mat. Angelo, groggy under the body barrage he absorbed, sprawled over Williams' prostrate form to get the fall and match. Officially beaten, Williams arose and, after launching a storm of protest, tossed Angelo outside the ring to wind up the hectic melee.

Tremaine Wins

Andy Tremaine of Phoenix, Ariz., resorted to his old favorite, a "grapevine" twist, to stop Billy Rayburn of Atlanta, Ga., and win the co-featured main go. Tremaine lost the first fall and then took two straight. He lost the opener in 15 minutes when he left himself open for Rayburn's grip, one in which he pulled Andy's leg back up over his head and sat on the ankles for the fall.

Tremaine combined a body flip while applying a figure four headlock to win the second in eight minutes. Rayburn kept in the running with an exchange of body slams in the third, but ringwise Andy grabbed the ropes to keep from being spilled and then stepped in with a grapevine twist that gave him a fall and victory in seven minutes.

George Wagner of Houston, Tex., needed only two thirds of the scheduled 20-minute period to score a one-fall victory over Tex Hager of Eugene, Ore. Hager wound up the match with a crotch hold. Earlier in the bout the contestants became entangled in a double leglock that Referee Temple had trouble untangling.

SUTHERLAND SIGNS TO COACH DODGERS

Ex-Pitt Coach Goes to Brooklyn Team.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30—Jock Sutherland is turning pro at the risk of one of the best football coaching records in the business.

The 50-year-old Scot who directed Pitt grid destinies for years has accepted a three-year contract to pilot the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National Professional league.

"I never coached a loser and hope to continue that record," declared the bachelor dental instructor long famous as a mentor of All-Americans.

"If I did not believe I could make a go of pro football I certainly would not have assumed my new position. No one likes to win any more than I do, and will try my utmost to give Brooklyn fans a winner."

And that comes from an affable fellow who thinks "football has been good to me" what with an enviable collegiate record of 71 victories, 14 ties and only 28 defeats in 20 years. He coached nine years at LaFayette before going to Pitt.

The pro world had only praise for the long-reported deal.

JUDGE CROW OUT FOR SIXTH TERM

Marion Jurist Has Longest Service Record in State.

Frank M. Crow, presiding judge of the Third District Court of Appeals which includes Marion county, has announced he will be a candidate for reelection for his sixth term in the Democratic primary.

Mr. Crow, dean of Ohio appellate court judges, was elected first in 1910 when the district involved was known as the circuit court. He has served 29 years and is the oldest jurist in the state in point of continuous service.

The Third District court embraces more counties than any other in the state, Allen, Auglaize, Crawford, Defiance, Hancock, Hardin, Henry, Logan, Marion, Mercer, Paulding, Putnam, Seneca, Union, Van Wert and Wyandot.

RETIRED BUCYRUS RAILROADER DIES

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., Jan. 30—William Ryan, 81, retired New York Central railroad engineer, died this morning at the home of his son, George Ryan of Bucyrus. He had been ill four months. Mr. Ryan came to Bucyrus in 1902 and retired from the railroad 15 years ago. Surviving are two children and five grandchildren. Mr. Ryan was a member of Holy Trinity Catholic church and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

PAUL HERBERT SPEAKS

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30—Ohio in the past year "has shown the nation that problems can be solved if handled efficiently," Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert asserted in a speech before the Republican Woman's club here last night. He said a $3,000,000 surplus now in the state treasury is sufficient "to meet any possible emergency."

BIOGRAPHIES GIVEN BY CLUB MEMBERS

One-Minute Sketches Feature Lions' Meeting.

One - minute biographical sketches of members of the Marion Lions club were given in a luncheon meeting of the club at Hotel Harding yesterday.

Members of the club were paired up and the "partners" gave oral biographies of each other. The meeting was in charge of Dr. R. E. Eicher, chairman of the January program committee.

In a short business meeting plans were discussed for the club's charter night program to be given at the hotel next Monday night in observance of the club's first anniversary. Guests yesterday were Harry Seiter, Harry Lazear, Pat O'Brien, Harold Butterfield and George Kramer.

OAKLAND CLASS AT PATRICK RESIDENCE

The Oakland Evangelical church Sunday school classes taught by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dutt were entertained last night by Juanita Patrick of 214 Fies avenue. The girls' class elected the following officers: Avonell Bailey, president; Eileen Buckley, vice president; Ruth Bowen, secretary-treasurer and reporter; Hope Line, assistant secretary-treasurer; Juanita Patrick, program chairman; Doris Norton, social chairman. The following were elected by the boys' class: Gordon Buckley, president; Robert Shipley, vice president; Clyde Born, secretary - treasurer. Avonell Bailey conducted devotions. Contest honors were won by Hope Line and Helen Bierce. Mr. and Mrs. Dutt showed motion pictures of the World's fair and pictures taken in their home. Refreshments were served to 30 members and two guests, June Douce and Eileen Christ. The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Chester Patrick, Ruth Bowen and Avonell Bailey.

MALLON

Auto sales are up 20 per cent over a year ago. General consumption of all goods is higher than a year ago.

Textile orders and production are still high. Production of finished durable goods (refrigerators, etc.) and machinery are high. Coal production is high because of abnormally cold weather as well as increased factory production.

Factory employment and payrolls went down in sympathy with the steel decline. Much overtime was cut out in steel mills in January.

Building contracts are down in January due to a freak December figure. TVA started a $117,000,000 dam project which was put in the December figure and shot it up abnormally.

National income index remains steady.

Farm income index is up slightly because, although hog prices did not pick up as expected and cattle prices weakened, large amounts of corn went under government loan and farmers received the cash.

Prices and cost of living show no change, indicating that original increase due to war was leveled off.

Forecast.

Peering into the crystal bowl of statistics the economists conclude the immediate future for business is pretty well safeguarded, barring peace. No one thinks the production level will get below 100 and the general forecast is for a year slightly above last year.

citizen of a little nation, and security against revolutionary intrigue and financial and political manipulations engineered by great powers he would be incomparably better off as a citizen of a small state than as a citizen or subject of a great one.

The small nations, not the large ones, have been the initiators of social progress in Europe. Women had political freedom in the small northern nations long before they had it anywhere else in Europe. The average Dutch boy has an infinitely better education than the average English or German boy. Curiously, he has a more universal and liberal education. Since his native tongue is not a world tongue, he is taught from grammar school days to speak one or two other languages. His political education is more constant and intelligent. Fifty million Germans could be persuaded to swallow Hitler's preposterous theories, but never a majority of Swedes or Danes!

The novel of the cultural education in the small states is reflected in the distribution of Nobel prizes the level of the physical education in the Olympic championships.

VANDENBERGS

dates later they were married.

There are just two things to which Vandenberg will devote time outside his work—his notebooks containing newspaper clippings about his speeches, and to Washington dinner parties for celebrities. He has to party. He's on the senate's foreign relations committee where much business is done over caviar.

She Buys His Clothes

She does the rest. She buys his clothes by dint of taking old ones down and having them duplicated. He never grumbles, just so they're blue. He's worn black shoes, same last, for 20 years.

She keeps the check book balanced and reminds him to get haircuts, keeps tab on the three children. There are grandchildren. Vandenberg's son is his secretary.

In recent years they've both started to count calories. But that rather hurts the kitchen-artist in Mrs. Vandenberg. She is famous in Washington for her snacks and dinners, and her corn beef hash, spaghetti and Spanish rice. Now he's cut out the spaghetti and rice. Fattening.

They're both straight and middle-aged slim. He's taller, with a round, smooth face, glasses, amused brown eyes. His hair is leaving him. She is compact, with an oval face framed in waved brown hair and a jolly, mid-western simplicity that has never rubbed off in the Washington glitter.

They're surrounded with plenty of glitter because he's on the foreign relations committee and that means dining with diplomats. They had two of those prized invitations to the British party for the king and queen. She looked stunning in a big red picture hat. He likes her in blue. He passed up his kilts for that party. Put on a lounge suit to show how American he is.

They Play Croquet

They have their best fun at their summer home on Lake Michigan where they play croquet, swim, read. She gets tired of the "key-ed up-ness" of Washington.

She likes to remember their early married days when they got so serious reading about Alexander Hamilton. He felt a book about Hamilton coming on, cleared a desk in the living room. She kept the three children quiet. Weeks passed. He went to New York with the manuscript, wired her, "Sold it. They want another." She read the wire to the children exultantly. They burst into sobs. "Oh, Mom, please don't let Pops write another book. We are tired of being quiet."

But he wrote two more, and left the rest to "O. D." That's his nickname for her. It means "Officer of the Day." She calls him "Bud."

She says please don't write about the Vandenbergs unless you include Maggie Van de Bunte, another Dutchman from Michigan. Maggie is the jolly woman who runs their three houses, Mrs. V. says Maggie is the better cook. But Mr. V. thinks Mrs. V. is better. So occasionally she chases Maggie out and browns some corn beef hash for the Lord of the Manor.

HE LIKES HIS JOB IN THE SENATE

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg first made good on his own door-step. He was born in Grand Rapids, Mich., on March 22, 1884. Just 22 years later he was editor and publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald.

He had been at work since he was nine, when he created a boys' pushcart service that made him self-supporting.

He was twice chairman of the state's Republican convention, served four years on the state's Republican central committee.

He stayed with the Herald until he entered the senate in 1928 where he is now leader of the economy bloc.

Mentioned in '36 and '40 for the White House, he says he'll run again for the senate. His present term expires in '41. He likes the job, goes bowling to relax.

BUCYRUS MAN WEDS

BUCYRUS, Jan. 30—Of interest in Bucyrus is the wedding in Shelby Monday afternoon of Miss Audrey Harwood of Beatrice, Neb. and Joseph C. Mr. Weaver is connected with the Weaver hotel.

"LOST HORIZONS" IS TOPIC AT REVIVAL

"Lost Horizons" was the subject of a sermon last night by Rev. Tom Presnell of Rogersville, Pa., who is conducting a series of revival meetings at Emmanuel Baptist church.

Pointing out that by far the most prevalent reason for "back sliding" is losing touch with God, Rev. Presnell urged the congregation to "ascend to a higher plane of living and get a view of the heavenly horizons."

Tonight Rev. Presnell will speak on "The Beauty of Living" at a service designed particularly for the young people of the church.

BEECH—A surprise was held Saturday night at the George Sergent home in honor of the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Sergent and Miss Juanita Metzger. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Irwin Jobe and Mrs. Paul Zachman of Marion. Others present were Mr. Jobe and Mr. Zachman of Marion and Mrs. Daisy Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Dean and son of Marion were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Winston.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Klinefelter were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Maxwell in Cardington.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sergent's Sunday dinner guests in honor of Miss Juanita Metzger's seventeenth birthday anniversary were: Mrs. Clara Metzger and Martin Ellis of Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Metzger and John Long of Centerburg.

When Mr. and Mrs. Metzger and Mr. Long were returning home at 4:30 p. m. they met with an automobile accident injuring Mr. and Mrs. Claude Metzger who were taken to the Marion City hospital. Mr. Long was unhurt. The accident occurred at the crossroads near the Rural Salem Evangelical church.

FORMER MARIONITE SEEKS STATE POST

State Representative William H. Whetro of Lawrence county, a former Marion man, yesterday requested the secretary of state for nominating petitions for lieutenant governor, The Associated Press reported from Columbus.

Rep. Whetro, who spent his early years in Marion, was the author of several liberal labor measures in the legislature, some of which were the object of considerable public attention.

He is a Democrat.

HOLINESS REVIVAL SERVICES NIGHTLY

We must not yield to discouragement nor compromise with evil, Rev. Alvin Young of Northville, N. Y., told his audience last night at the Pilgrim Holiness church where he conducted a revival. He took as his text Neh. 4:6.

Illustrations were used for the sermon. Rev. Young also sang a solo. Another service will be held at 7:30 tonight.

GIRL RESERVES MEET

The ring group of the Senior Girl Reserves of Thomas A. Edison Junior High school met last evening with Betty Burgener on Bellefontaine avenue. The discussion topic was "The Code Notebook." Blue and white, the Girl Reserve colors, were carried out in the appointments for a lunch served during a social hour by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mr. J. E. Burgener. Donna Reich presided.

PLAN VALENTINE PARTY

A valentine party for the young boys and girls of the Sunday school was discussed by the United class of Prospect Methodist church at a meeting last night with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith of 312 Patten street. Mrs. Harry Fout was a guest. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welhelm assisted the hosts in the social hour.

CALVARY CLASS MEETS

Committees for entertainment throughout the year were named when the God's Helpers class of Calvary Evangelical church met Friday night with Norma Birchem of 578 East Farming street. The teacher, Miss Delta Midlam, conducted devotions. Awards in contests went to Marjory Phelps, Ruth Corwin, Marilyn Apt and Dolores Swearingen. Valentines were made for shut-ins.

HITLER

ler, as "the one voice" of Germany.

"On this Jan. 30, it is the sign of the union of the German nation," said Goebbels, "and our thanks will not be empty words but battle."

Hitler's first remark, as unofficially translated into English, was a reference to his seven years at the head of the reich and a declaration that they had "seemed longer than many decades of the past."

"This is a great historic event," Hitler went on.

"We hear much today about Democratic ideals. . . England has waged most of the wars of this world. . . a new Europe is supposed to arise and there should be general disarmament, and this disarmament is then supposed to begin the economic prosperity of Europe, especially free trade.

"Under this free trade civilization is to flourish," he went on, still apparently referring sarcastically to Britain's state "peace objectives."

"In one word," he said sardonically, "the golden age is to begin. . . . This golden age has been skipped several times."

"All this was promised in 1918—the new justice and so forth. Already at that time there was a program of disarmament."

There were great jeering roars as he said this.

"It was expected that as a result of that disarmament in 1918 there would be universal prosperity.

"In not one single case did they (the allies) ask the nations of Europe in the reorganization what their own wishes were.

"What had been formed through the centuries probably had been the better. Without any consideration for the self determination of peoples, Europe was chopped to pieces.

"They did not disarm, but they continued to arm. The disarmed people were not in a position to defend themselves. The economic depression hit not only the defeated but the victors.

Girl Scout Dinner Speaker Stresses Importance of Home and Family Life

Ohio State Educator Addresses 230 Young People and Leaders at Banquet.

The world, the nation, the state, the community, will not be saved until the home and family are saved first, Dr. Edgar Dale of the educational research department at Ohio State university told 230 young people and adults at the annual Girl Scout dinner Monday night at Masonic temple.

Parents, council members, troop committees and leaders joined the girls for their annual social affair, turning out in the largest number in recent years.

"We forget nations are people and we should not be any more surprised at nations breaking treaties than we are at people breaking contracts," Dr. Dale said.

In solving Marion's problems he said the question should be "what do we want Marion to be like five, ten, fifteen years from now?" in relation to organizations such as Girl Scouts, recreation facilities, opportunities for work, opportunities for helping others and opportunities for better citizenship.

Communities must have a plan for progress, he said, and all community agencies should be brought together to discuss this plan.

Responsibilities Tested

People in Democracies have these responsibilities, according to Mr. Dale: Respect for the dignity and worth of all people, all nationalities; cooperation and sharing with others; thinking clearly and as straight as possible about problems that arise.

Speaking of his own interests, radio, motion pictures and newspapers, he mentioned them as areas in which communities might work to make their cities more interesting and delightful to live in. Speaking to the young people he told them that every time they pay an admission to a theater they are casting a vote for Hollywood to continue making that same kind of picture. He urged them to attend only the best pictures, and to make some expression of their appreciation for their favorite radio programs. "Sometimes there are excellent things on the air and we don't pay sufficient attention to them," he said.

Important Training

Part of the citizenship training of the Girl Scouts should be to give the girls some understanding of newspapers, he said. Dr. Dale cited a case of one freshman class in one of the O. S. U. colleges, in which one-half of the young people did not know the difference between Baltic and Balkans. He went on to say that high school boys and girls read the newspapers, "but they don't read intelligently."

"Every one has an inescapable obligation to be intelligent in this world in which we live," he said.

The theme of the annual banquet was a "prop show." Each of the long tables was decorated with a box showing some phase of activity of each of the troops. The cellophane-fronted boxes and the activities depicted were designed and made by the girls.

Mrs. F. L. Thomas, Girl Scout commissioner, presented Dr. Dale and his guest, Ray Wenger who is engaged in post-graduate study at the university. Troop 3, of which Miss Emily Wolfel is leader, was in charge of the flag ceremony which preceded group singing led by Miss Marguerite Gehring, with Miss Barbara Fralich at the piano.

Leaders Introduced

Mrs. Thomas introduced members of the various committees of the Girl Scout council and Miss Fralich, president of the leaders' organization, introduced the leaders and the troops. Mr. and Mrs. H. Alfred Donithon were guests.

After Dr. Dale's address Miss Margaret Bolundy, Girl Scout director, spoke briefly, explaining the "prop show" boxes and thanking the various committees in charge of the dinner and the chairman, Mrs. E. O. Smith.

Miss Gehring, leader of Troop 5, the senior Legion auxiliary troop, won the recognition pin which the public relations committee offered the leader having the most reservations for the dinner. Mrs. Walter Haldeman's Troop 23 was second and Mrs. Burr Reed's Troop 15 was third. The pin was presented by Mrs. J. Wendell Wiant, chairman of the public relations committee.

Singing of songs around an improvised campfire by girls of Troop 1, sponsored by the Altrusa club, closed the program.

OHIO'S PENSION FIGHT TO BE CARRIED ON

Expresses Stand in Capital Speech.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — [illegible] that Ohio "is not [illegible] with this fight," Gov. [illegible] predicted last night that [illegible] member who voted [illegible] President Roosevelt's [illegible] resolution to adjust the [illegible]-year-old claim for $1,300,- [illegible] federal old-age grants [illegible] to regret it."

The governor, speaking at the [illegible]ty's annual McKinley [illegible] meeting, said the money [illegible] withheld principally as the [illegible] of a political quarrel which [illegible] settled.

"The social security board with- [illegible] money, due for October, [illegible] on the ground that former [illegible]ernor Bricker was using the funds [illegible] political purposes.)

"This is an amazing and threatening [illegible] of institutions when an arro- [illegible] bureaucrat will use his tem- [illegible] control over other people's [illegible] to satisfy a personal whim [illegible] or serve a narrow partisan politi- [illegible] purpose," Bricker declared. "[illegible] (social security) law must [illegible] amended to give aggrieved ap- [illegible] to an unbiased court or [illegible]

"This is not through with this [illegible] We intend to have our [illegible] who can stand the loss of [illegible],000,000 . . . but we can not stand [illegible] continuance and spread of [illegible] practice without destroying [illegible] states themselves and render- [illegible] them the provinces of a Wash- [illegible] bureaucracy—costly, cum- [illegible]some and out of touch with the people back home."

Earlier Bricker said Ohio would appeal to the courts in an effort to adjust the claim, but Rep. Jenkins, Republican of Ohio, who introduced the vetoed bill, announced it had been decided to renew the fight in congress.

Rep. Dudley White, Republican of Ohio, vice president of the society, introduced Bricker as the man who had "performed the miracle of present day government—a balanced budget."

Senator Robert A. Taft, presidential candidate and society president, said Ohio's government under Bricker was "honest, efficient and economical."

PRESIDENT REQUESTS FUNDS FOR HOSPITALS

$7,500,000 to $10,000,000 Is Asked To Start Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—President Roosevelt asked congress today to approve a $7,500,000 to $10,000,000 experimental program for federal construction of approximately 50 hospitals in areas needing such facilities but unable to pay for them.

Setting forth the request in a "birthday message"—this being his 58th birthday—Mr. Roosevelt said of his recommendation:

"I am confident that even this limited undertaking will bring substantial returns in the saving of lives, rehabilitation of workers, and increased health and vigor of the people."

The plan, he declared, does not constitute a renewal of any past federal public works program using the "grants-in-aid" method of financing.

"The areas which I have in mind," he explained, "are areas so poor that they can not raise their share of the cost of building and equipping a hospital."

MINERS

Lewis in the week-old session.

Rampant speculation on what action the convention would take on the proposals, especially since they conflict with Lewis' stand, preceded the resolutions committee's report.

The U.M.W. president not only predicted "ignominious defeat" for a third-term campaign, but urged his 2,400 delegates from 27 states and Canada to withhold immediate indorsement of a presidential candidate.

There were many old-timers, however, who believed Lewis, despite his denunciation of the Democratic party for "breaking faith" with labor, was not terribly angry with Mr. Roosevelt.

They believed their leader still had great admiration for the president and would support him for reelection if the Democrats granted the C.I.O. chiefs' requests for more concessions to labor.

They said Lewis' third-term pessimism did not preclude a return to the Roosevelt fold. Lewis, they emphasized, qualified his prediction by saying Roosevelt could be defeated under present conditions.

Many Confused

The situation has confused many Lewis followers. They want to remain loyal to him, yet they say they can't disregard the president's contributions to labor.

The confusion has been increased by the third-term indorsements of powerful C.I.O. unions, such as the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Typical of the 47 resolutions from nine states was one from Little Short Creek, Ohio:

"Since President Roosevelt did so much good for the working class in this country since he has been in office, we the members of Local Union 4472 think that President Roosevelt should be indorsed for the third term by the convention."

Volunteer Committees Announced for Finnish Relief Fund Campaign

Committees of Marion residents who have accepted volunteer service for Marion city and county's Finnish relief fund drive were announced today by George E. Planck, chairman.

In addition to the three public events planned for residents of the city and county, collection boxes today were being placed in uptown restaurants, hotels and theaters, to take the smaller contributions and Dan L. LaMarche began forming a committee which he will head in seeking larger contributions.

The three public events will be a midnight party at the Palace theater on Saturday, Feb. 10, a matinee and fashion show at the same theater on Thursday, Feb. 15, and a bridge party and fashion show on Friday night, Feb. 16, at Hotel Harding.

Sheldon Dodds has been named head on the committee in charge of containers.

Following is the committee in charge of the midnight show:

Serving with Mr. LaMarche on the committee for the midnight show are Mayor Russell C. Snare, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Danner, Miss Thelma Crawford, A. W. Kette, James Sons, Edgar Barnhart, Thayer Martin, John K. Bartram, B. C. Moloney, Wilson B. Tway, M. J. Bush, Sam Rieenberg, Frank M. Knapp, George Stafford, Robert Bush, Chris Turoff, Leonard Young, Adreen Busick, Clyde Faust, Roland Leeper and Elmer A. Williams.

Mrs. E. G. Siefert has been named chairman of the matinee and fashion show. On her committee are Mrs. Howard Swank, Mrs. George Hoover, Mrs. A. Merle Hamilton, Mrs. Robert C. Owens, Mrs. D. W. Brickley Jr., Mrs. John K. Bartram, Mrs. Everett Grigsby, Mrs. O. M. Young, Mrs. J. K. Schwinger, Mrs. Harold Harmon, Mrs. E. G. Halby, Mrs. Frank R. Mann, Mrs. James R. Smith, Mrs. Wilson B. Tway and Mrs. John A. McNamara. Admission will be 50 cents.

On the committee for the bridge party and fashion show are Dr. and Mrs. John A. McNamara, Mr. and Mrs. Fred P. Strother, Mr. and Mrs. E. Paul Bachman, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dye, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Willey, Mr. and Mrs. George Alber, Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Brickley Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kilbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George G. Kleinmaier, Mrs. George Frank, Mrs. James C. Woods, Mrs. Thomas H. Sutherland, Miss Mary Guthrie and Miss Esther Guthery. Tickets will sell at $1 a table.

Mr. Planck emphasized today that the containers which the Hoover Finnish relief organization, which he heads, has placed in the uptown district in no way will conflict with the Red Cross containers in the banks. He said that the Red Cross funds go to purchase supplies, while the Hoover relief funds will go to provide food, shelter and any necessities which the small nation needs in its war with Russia.

Contributions to the Hoover fund may be made at the banks, but should be made at the windows and designated as such. The Hoover fund will not place containers in the banks, he said, to avoid encroaching on the Red Cross drive.

Canadians Asking Pointed Questions About U. S. in War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

"Do you think the United States will come into the war?"

Five times in five days Allen Raymond, staff correspondent of the New York Herald-Tribune, had that query put to him in Ottawa, up to the time he recorded it yesterday in his paper. On the last occasion a Canadian woman said to him:

"Why aren't you in this war? You're no better than my husband. You'd pretty soon find this war was yours if we were losing."

These five inquiries represent a general trend in British thought which is giving grave concern to many American observers who are convinced that this country should stay out of the war.

Belief Strongly Planted

The British as a whole maintain a pungent belief, as immutable as their four o'clock tea habit, that America (1) ought to be in the war from the start, that (2) we are allowing the allies to fight our own battle for us, and that (3) if it should come to a show-down and England were being defeated, we would have to go to the rescue anyway—so why not now.

If this uncomplimentary idea existed merely as a passive sort of thing, to make us sorry that the good folk of lovely England should think so badly of us, it perhaps would present no real danger. But there is a decidedly active side to it which does raise a peril to neutrality.

The fact is that there is a widespread and subtle effort being made by British interests to build up a sentiment in America to bring the United States into the European upheaval.

I saw this influence at work in Europe long before the war actually started—the idea of pulling the United States into the row. It continues over their at long range. And it is quietly busy right here at home, especially in Washington and other important centers where people of influence are wont to congregate.

Recalls Last War

I was abroad before we came into the last conflict. England was an uncomfortable spot for a Yankee because of the deep resentment at our neutrality. The British people thought, and undoubtedly quite honestly, that we ought to be in the war, and they never have forgiven us for not getting started earlier. Those were the days when I heard President Wilson hissed by a British cinema assemblage in Bombay—and the unfortunate American consul was present.

All these things are exceedingly unpleasant to write about. However, it does seem necessary that the American public should be advised that this wooden horse is in our midst. The idea, of course, is to build up a pro-allied sentiment to the point where we will be stamped by some "incident" and discover when we have cooled off that we have landed ourselves squarely in the middle of Europe's new war.

JAPANESE DEMAND RETURN OF GERMANS

Tokyo Stiffens Attitude Toward Britain in Incident.

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Jan. 30—The foreign office announced that Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita told British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie today that the return to Japan of 21 Germans seized by the British navy from the Japanese liner Asama Maru was "essential."

The demand was made at a two and a half hour conference in which "every angle" of the Asama Maru case was discussed. The vessel was halted by a British warship Jan. 20 off Yokohoma, and the 21 seamen returning to Germany, were taken off. They have been interned in Hongkong.

Craigie and Arita agreed to meet again tomorrow.

The foreign office statement was considered significant because heretofore the Japanese government had simply "reserved the right" to demand the return of the captives. Hence the new position was interpreted as a strengthening of Japan's attitude.

The foreign office statement said Craigie requested today's conference. It was agreed that the British note replying to Japan's protest over the incident would not be published immediately.

The Japanese government "meanwhile is preparing a considered reply," it was stated.

ALLIANCE OBJECTS TO FILM SHOWING

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Jan. 30—Objecting to the film "Gone with the Wind" because it assertedly portrays Abraham Lincoln as a "backwoods fool and ignoramus," the Canton Workers' alliance last night asked city council to prohibit its showing here. An alliance letter, submitted by Rowena Jackson, WPA official, said also the movie "depicts the Negro people as unintelligent and serves to perpetrate a feeling of hatred." The council voted to return the letter, explaining it has "no authority to censor moving pictures."

GUILD LOSES ELECTION

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30 — The American Newspaper Guild lost a collective-bargaining election at the Cleveland News yesterday as 96 business office employes voted against and 40 for representation by the C.I.O. unit. Editorial workers, who already have a contract, retained the guild as bargaining agent.

GOV. BRICKER ANNOUNCES PLANS TO SUPPORT SENATOR TAFT

With his arm around Senator Robert A. Taft (right), Gov. Bricker of Ohio told a luncheon gathering in Washington that he would give his wholehearted support to the Republican presidential candidacy of Taft. "I'll do everything in my power to see that Senator Taft is nominated," he said.

Noted Philanthropist Is Stricken

1908 the cornerstone was laid.

The new church was dedicated on Oct. 10, 1909, in memory of Mrs. Marin Underwood.

Mrs. Ellis Klinnamon of east of Caledonia, a distant relative of Mrs. Harkness, said today the church cost approximately $100,000 and that the parsonage was erected at a cost of about $28,000.

Mrs. Harkness died in 1928 at the age of 88. Caledonia residents who were acquainted with her said she reminded them in appearance of Queen Victoria, and that despite her great wealth she never forgot her mother's friends in the small community. She returned to Caledonia about once a year on a private railroad car and, accompanied by her companion, visited her sister, the late Mrs. T. J. Anderson, and attended services at the Memorial church.

The Memorial church walls are of solid stone, and all of the nails used in its construction are of copper. The stone dressers who did the work were trained in Scotland.

A costly structure and maintained at considerable expense, the congregation found itself in need of finances on several occasions when repairs were needed.

Members of the congregation wrote to the son, known to them as "Ned" Harkness, and explained their difficulties. His endowments over a period of years, always specifically for the upkeep of the church, have totalled about $44,000, it was said today.

Mr. Harkness visited the community with his mother on her annual trips years ago.

The Associated Press spoke of Mr. Harkness today as a man "who never made a public speech or gave an interview although he donated $100,000,000 to education and health."

His widow, Mrs. Mary Stillman Harkness, a native of Brooklyn and his only close survivor, was at his bedside when he died. They had no children. Mr. Harkness' death was attributed to a pancreas infection.

The money to which he fell heir was always considered a means by which he might better humanity, according to a Cleveland news report. Friends frequently spoke of the fact that he was not interested in financial profits.

"He would not listen to you if you told him of a way to make $1,000,000" a friend once said, "but if you could tell him of a way by which 1,000,000 people could be benefited, that would be different."

His father left an estate estimated at $50,000,000 when he died. When his mother died the estate had grown to more than $107,000,000 even after deduction of public benefactions estimated at $30,000,000.

Many Philanthropies

Harkness made almost a business—but an extremely quiet one—of philanthropy, keeping a staff of secretaries to hunt out new and deserving outlets for his wealth.

He gave approximately $25,000,000 to Yale university, his alma mater; nearly $12,000,000 to Harvard; $11,000,000 to Columbia $1,000,000 to the New York public library and smaller sums to scores of smaller colleges in many states.

With his mother, he gave a 20-acre tract in upper Manhattan for the vast medical center which bears his name—the Harkness pavilion.

He was a director of the New York Central Lines, the Southern Pacific company, and many more railroad and transportation companies.

Harkness gave $1,000,000 to the building campaign for Western Reserve university's medical group in 1927 and two years later endowed Flora Stone Mather college of the university with $200,000.

Although maintaining a home in the east since his graduation from Yale, Harkness maintained an interest in Cleveland affairs and permitted many pictures from his collection to be exhibited at the Cleveland museum of art.

Home Losing Out As Place Where Question Is Popped

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30—By far the most marriage proposals are now made outside the girl's home, probably in some automobile, the Institute of Family Relations deduces from a study of 1,181 proposals.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, general director of the institute, concluded:

"Modern homes are small or lack privacy. The automobile gives the couple a chance to be alone. Hence 25 per cent of the proposals were made in the car and only 23 per cent in the girl's home."

Dr. Popenoe contended the average man's proposal technique is disgraceful:

"A common performance, it appears, is for the young couple to be looking into a furniture store window when the man inquires, "how's about you and me fixing up a little love nest, huh?"

One man proposed as his girl, frightened by a rattlesnake in the path, stepped back into his arms. Another proposed after he had finished a slab of gooseberry pie at a picnic and was introduced to the girl who made it."

FARMERS HAUL WATER

By The Associated Press

TIFFIN, O., Jan. 30—A water shortage gave eastern Seneca county farmers another chore today—hauling water from quarries, streams and Sandusky bay to provide for livestock and household needs. Wells have dropped to low stages as a result of little rainfall since last spring, M. L. Howell, county farm agent, reported.

FARMER SUBSIDIES CALLED WASTEFUL

Columbus Speaker Says AAA Program Self-Defeating.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30—Farmers attending the annual farmers' week clinic at Ohio State university today pondered the warning of an economist that farm subsidies were "self-defeating and wasteful."

Dr. E. G. Nourse of Brookings institute, Washington, declared federal subsidies encouraged farmers to "increase market supplies and keep prices permanently depressed below a remunerative level."

"The whole process is self-defeating and wasteful in the extreme," he said.

Taking the opposite view in a debate on the subject, Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, economic advisor to Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, contended farmers were entitled to public aid "as a matter of justice."

He pointed out that many other industries received subsidies from the government.

"So long as the present inadequate demand for farm products continues in domestic and foreign markets, so long as the income of farmers remains as low as it has been during recent years, federal programs in aid to agriculture will have to be continued," he said.

Earlier, Dr. Ezekiel advocated higher income taxes to accomplish a more equitable distribution of wealth and to produce revenue which could be spent for governmental services and public works to benefit lower income groups.

HOUSEKEEPER FACES KIDNAP CHARGE

By The Associated Press

OTTAWA, O., Jan. 30 — Mrs. Helen Austin, 28, faced arraignment today on a charge of kidnaping 12-year-old Lois Gould, daughter of her employer, Walter Gould.

Mrs. Austin, housekeeper in the Gould home at nearby Cloverdale, was apprehended with the child yesterday at the home of her parents in Haskins, Wood county.

Gould charges that Mrs. Austin abducted the child while he was on a trip to Chicago.

Mrs. Austin said she intended to return the girl.

GAS FILLS SCHOOL

By The Associated Press

HAMILTON, O., Jan. 30—State and city authorities hunted today for the source of gas that seeped into the Harrison elementary school and caused the illness of Principal E. F. Schwelkert and a score of pupils. None was in a serious condition. Superintendent Clyde W. White ordered the building closed to its 500 pupils and 14 teachers until the leak was located.

TAKES FEDERAL POST

By The Associated Press

OBERLIN, O., Jan. 30 — Dr. Ben W. Lewis, professor of economics at Oberlin college, has received a semester's leave of absence in order to become chief economist for the consumers' counsel division for the department of interior. From April 1934 until August 1935 he was economic adviser to the consumers' advisory board of the NRA.

ROBBER SENTENCED

By The Associated Press

TROY, O., Jan. 30 — Henry Smolinski, 25, of Dayton, must serve 10 to 25 years in Ohio penitentiary for the holdup of a Piqua drug store. He was sentenced after pleading guilty yesterday to an armed robbery charge. Police wounded and captured Smolinski as he fled after the robbery. A companion, Alex Burkhard, of Dayton, received a similar sentence last week.

MRS. ALICE SMITH DIES AT MORRAL

Grand Twp. Native Stricken at Home of Daughter.

Special to The Star

MORRAL, O., Jan. 30 — Mrs. Alice Cluff Smith, 74, a native of Grand township in Marion county, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Perry L. Rough of Morral. She suffered a stroke of paralysis on Saturday.

Surviving are six children, including Mrs. Rough and Emmett and Arleigh Smith of Marion, a half-sister and a step-sister. The funeral will be conducted Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Morral Baptist church. Burial will be made in Grand Prairie cemetery.

WALLACE

ments would result in about a 75 per cent parity income, compared with 73.5 the year before, and that only $212,000,000 would be required to attain 75 per cent in the next fiscal year.

Price Rise Possible

He remarked that "there is a bare possibility that the war" might cause certain farm prices to raise.

Wallace declared that the department was not yet convinced that its new stamp plan of disposing of surplus commodities was superior to the old method of direct government purchases and direct donations to needy.

He asserted, too, that the administration's trade agreements program has "helped but not completely solved" the farm problem.

Other statements before the committee included these:

1. R. M. Evans, AAA administrator, recommended that crop insurance, applied to wheat for a year, be extended to cotton. He said that applications for insurance on winter wheat have increased 263 per cent over the first year. Bad weather conditions forecast a deficit for the government on wheat insurance for the second successive year, he added.

Farthur Cuts Questioned

2. Asked by Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) whether continuing surpluses of wheat and cotton did not subject further acreage reductions, Evans said, "on both cotton and wheat I would question the advisability of further reducing the acreage because it would result in a severe adjustment to the number of people who are producing those crops at the present time."

3. Dr. W. W. Alexander, administrator of the farm tenant act, indicated that land-purchase loans to tenants had been successful financially, saying that as of July 25, 1939, borrowers "had repaid more than the total payments due."

However, the committee was told that farm tenancy presents an increasingly serious problem for which the government has yet to find a solution. Howard R. Tolley, chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, said the purchase program had not produced "any displacement that is measurable at all."

4. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Farm Bureau federation, telling the committee that "parity prices alone can restore farm purchasing power" recommended a parity appropriations of $807,000,000.

Sugar Program Works Two Ways

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 — In one division, the agriculture department restricts sugar production. In another, it seeks ways to expand the output.

Both functions were described by department officials in testimony made public today by the house appropriations committee.

Dr. Joshua Bernhardt, chief of the sugar division, told the agriculture subcommittee that under the 1937 sugar act virtually every cane and beet grower had received benefit payments as rewards for keeping within his production quota.

In a statement, the bureau said "farsighted national policy" required that American growers be assisted so that they might be in position to produce economically a greater portion of the national requirement.

Erosion Control Boosts Land Value

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Conservation work on approximately 18,000,000 acres of cropland, says Dr. H. H. Bennett, has increased their aggregate production value by nearly $1,000,000,000.

Bennett is chief of the soil conservation service. His testimony was made public today when the house appropriations committee introduced the agriculture department supply bill for fiscal 1941.

With the aid of farms and the states, said Bennett, the government has "pretty well controlled erosion on about 18,000,000 acres, and increased their production value over a 10-year period by $50 an acre.

More than 1,011,000,000 acres of land are eroding now, he said, and the value of 280,000,000 acres has been virtually destroyed. Much of it was grazing land, he said, but 50,000,000 acres were cropland.

Bennett said more than half the reservoirs in the United States were filled with silt from eroding lands, threatening investments totaling many billions of dollars.

ENTERS STATE RACE

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Jan. 30 — Price Jayson, Canton attorney, will seek the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor at the May 14 primary. He never has held an elective public office.

WOUND FATAL TO EXPRESS CASHIER

H. A. Lusch Found Dead at S. State St. Office.

Harold A. Lusch, Jr., cashier at the Railway Express agency here, was found dead of a bullet wound this morning in the agency office at 133 South State street. Coroner M. F. Axthelm returned a verdict of suicide.

Members of the family said Mr. Lusch had been complaining of sharp head pains for the last several months and that ill health apparently was the cause of the shooting. He had been suffering from a nervous disorder and severe headaches since suffering a fall about a year ago, relatives said.

With Company 20 Years

Mr. Lusch, who made his home at 389 Oak street, had been in the employ of the company almost 20 years and had been cashier since Aug. 16, 1937.

He was alone at the office when the death occurred. Time of the death was placed at about 8 o'clock. A. M. Shields, a driver for the agency, arrived at the office shortly after 8 and found the doors locked and the lights on. He then brought E. J. Sailer, agent for the agency, and together they found the body in the rear room, a bullet hole in the right temple. A .38 caliber revolver lay beside the body.

Native of Marion

Mr. Lusch was a lifelong resident of Marion. He was born here July 20, 1902 to Susan K. Lusch and the late Fred Lusch. He was married to Miss Josephine Boger of Marion at Monroe, Mich.

Surviving with the widow are his mother, who lives at 384 East Church street, four children, Wanda Maxine, Martha Jane, Flora Mae and Robert LeRoy, all at home, and three brothers and three sisters, Oscar Lusch of Harding Highway East, Donald E. Lusch of Mary street, Mrs. Getis S. Harriman of 373 Cherry street, Miss Kathryn Lusch of 384 East Church street, Fred Lusch of Upper Sandusky and Mrs. Leslie Kling of Cleveland.

H. F. SHAFFSTALL RITES HELD TODAY

Services for Marion Man Held at Morral.

Funeral of Harrison F. Shaffstall, 83, who died Saturday afternoon at his home at 230 Lincoln avenue, was conducted today at 2 p. m. at the Lucas funeral home in Morral, Elder Levi Hite of the Brush Ridge Primitive Baptist church in charge. Burial was made in the Morral cemetery.

Mr. Shaffstall, a retired carpenter contractor, lived in Morral before he came to Marion 35 years ago.

He was born at Nevada on Oct. 21, 1850, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shaffstall, natives of Pennsylvania. His wife, Mrs. Mary Johnson Shaffstall, died 42 years ago.

Surviving are a son, Arthur, of Columbus, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Hart of Findlay.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 30—Donald Stone, 24, of Canton, has been held to the Mahoning county grand jury on a bigamy charge. Authorities said he and Miss Annie Hutchinson, 18, of Canton, went through a marriage ceremony here although Stone still was married to Mrs. Lucile Tyler Stone of Cleveland. He was arrested in Pittsburgh where police found him with Miss Hutchinson after a month's search.

INDICTED IN MURDER

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30—Joseph Dimarco, 23, and Anthony Citesole, 20, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., are under indictment today on first-degree murder charges in the holdup slaying of Edward J. Erbody, 40-year-old furrier. A grand jury deliberated only two minutes.

was not attacked but that an asylum at Tammisaari, near there, was raided and a young boy killed.

Reports 50 Killed

(A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch said 50 persons were killed and 200 injured in a raid at Hanko.)

Widespread destruction was reported at Turku, with homes over a broad area in ruins. Reports said one bomb struck a street car, killing six passengers and a woman operator. Two telephone operators who stayed at their posts as long as possible were killed as they finally rushed across the street to an air raid shelter, the Finns declared.

A field hospital behind the Finnish lines at the Karelian isthmus front was wrecked by a bomb and four women and 19 wounded soldiers and hospital attendants killed.

Fires flared in a half dozen cities, including Hanko. Casualties were reported in raids on Tampere, industrial center north of the capital, Porvookarja, and other centers.

The Finns reported five of 50 planes were brought down over Turku, and one at Helsinki, where raiders were beaten off four times by pursuit ships and anti-aircraft fire during the day.

The known dead of yesterday already exceeded the total reported by the Finnish high command killed in enemy raids last week. In a review of last week's air raids, the Finns said 24 persons were killed and 58 wounded. The review charged that eight hospitals "clerly marked with the international emblem" (Red Cross) were attacked with bombs and machine-guns.

(The Russian high command in a report of yesterday's activities said "seven enemy planes were brought down in various districts" and that "Soviet aviation made reconnoitering and bombing flights.")

Reporting new successes on the Lake Ladoga front, the Finnish high command yesterday said 1,250 Russian soldiers had been left dead on the battlefields.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haynes of 805 Congress street are parents of a daughter, Joyce Ann, born Saturday at the City hospital. Mrs. Haynes was to be removed to her home today.

FORMER MEMBER OF O. N. G. HELD

Accused of Illegally Taking Uniform.

Harry Nelson, 28, of Hawk, O., was returned here late yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Gene Geissler to face a grand larceny charge filed in connection with an alleged theft of a national guard uniform valued at $50.

Officials said today that they were awaiting word from national guard headquarters in Columbus and had not yet decided whether Nelson would be arraigned in municipal court here or turned over to federal officials. They pointed out that a charge can be filed in federal court since the articles of clothing involved were owned by the federal government.

The municipal court charge was filed here Nov. 20 by Capt. Hubert L. Taylor, commanding officer of Co. D, who told officers that Nelson and a complete uniform issued to him disappeared during a field training period held here Nov. 11 and 12. National guard officers said Nelson was a member of Co. D here about three years, during which time he was working in Marion. He was arrested at his home in Hawk Saturday by the sheriff of Vinton county.

TENSE TIMES

Through London strides Sir William Seeds, British ambassador to Russia now "on furlough" from his post. It was reported that his departure from Moscow had nothing to do with troubled Russian-British relations.

TRY AT RALLY LACKS POWER

Stocks Move Back and Forth in See-Saw Trading Session.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Attempts to give the stock market a feeble boost today fell flat as steels, motors, aircrafts and other leaders generally refused to catch hold.

It was a see-saw session at the start.

Fractional recessions then were the rule, but one or two setbacks amounted to several points for isolated issues.

Traders could find little in the news to inspired buying and most continued to keep commitments at a minimum.

Sagging tendencies in business, combined with clouds over politics, congress and the European wars, were still seen as the principal speculative handicaps.

Foreign markets lagged and bonds and commodities were mixed.

Stocks inclined to give ground included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, J. I. Case, American Telephone, Westinghouse, Air Reduction, General Electric & American Smelting.

Rails, utilities and oils kept to a fairly steady course.

The curb was spotty. Higher at one time were aluminum of America, American Gas, Aviation & Transportation and Lake Shore.

Thought that the SEC might be getting "hard-bolied" in its latest move to enforce the holding company "death sentence" was believed to have cooled market sentiment to some extent.

Some statistical sources were not particularly downhearted. These expressed the opinion that recent unfavorable developments —freight loadings, softening metal prices, lessening textile demand, shaky gasoline quotations, dwindling building contracts and cold wave destruction—had been taken relatively well by markets.

MARION CO. MAN GETS PAROLE

John Boris of Marion county, serving a sentence for burglary, was among 63 inmates granted paroles today by the Ohio pardon and parole commission, The Associated Press reported. The parole will become effective June 1.

Among parolees was Louis J. Cadek, former Cleveland policeman serving a two to 20-year prison term for accepting bribes. His parole is effective Jan. 2, 1941 Cadek entered the penitentiary May 10, 1937, one of five policemen convicted and is the last of the five to be paroled. He was denied a parole a year ago.

The commission also conditionally released eight inmates and continued the cases of 80.

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Jan. 30—Only a few scattered sales were reported on domestic wools in the Boston market today. The prices realized in these sales indicated a downward trend in prices as some holders sought to move wools despite the widespread lack of interest on the part of users. Good French combing length fine territory wools in original bags were sold at 95 to 97 cents scoured basis. Graded combing three-eighths blood, bright fleece wool was sold at about 42 to 43 cents in the grease.

When Marion Saw 'The Mummy and The Humming Bird'

The handbill of a stage play that was presented at the old Grand Opera House probably 40 years ago was found recently in the Marion Glass Mfg. Co. building.

The play, "The Mummy and the Humming Bird," was modestly advertised as "A comedy drama so great, so captivating, so beautiful, that it is more than a play—a page from life itself," and as "The best play of the season."

Women's costumes in the drawings on the handbill definitely date the play as having been in the late '90's or early in 1900. Booking records of the old Opera house, now in possession of Dr. F. A. Stengel, do not give a definite date, but it is believed by older residents of the city that it was brought here around 1904.

Four drawings illustrate the handbill and are labeled, "The Vendetta," "The Mummy's Only Thoughts — His Work," "The Humming Bird Foiled" and "The Organ Grinder."

A Classy Troupe

J. M. Clayton played the stellar role and in advertising the company, the following was said: "The company has been pronounced to be at least the equal in point of ability to properly portray the various characters of any ever seen in this famous play. Mr. J. M. Clayton has for three seasons been winning golden opinions for his delineations of the stellar role, and his associates have been selected with the sole object in view of providing for each part a thoroughly competent representative."

Concerning the play, the handbill stated enthusiastically: "Its story excites and maintains, by the natural sequence of its incidents, by the dramatic manner in which its plot is developed, and by the brightness of its dialogue and has established itself in general estimation as one of the best comedy-dramas ever presented before the American public. In no other single play have so many strong characters been assembled. The 'Mummy,' a scientist so absorbed in chemical researches as to be almost oblivious of his every day surroundings; the 'Humming Bird,' a literary foreigner whose habits and character as developed warrant the sobriquet; an Italian organ grinder, who proves a pivotal character upon whom the story of the play hinges, the wife of the 'Mummy' and the brilliant young widow whose second wooing forms a part of the action, are a quintette of dramatic personages, each of whom is a distinct type, inherently forceful and interesting."

When the House Burned

The old Grand Opera House, erected in 1895 and 1896 and opened on Aug. 19, 1896, was gutted by fire on Tuesday morning, Dec. 6, 1910. At that time the Culhane Stock Co. was playing at the theater. According to the day's edition of The Star, loss was estimated at $100,000 and the insurance amounted to about $15,000. The interior of the theater was rebuilt and the house became successively the Alhambra theater, the Grand theater and the Ohio theater.

The old handbill was found by L. E. Moore of 185 Boone avenue, shipping clerk at the Glass Co., when flooring was taken up in connection with laying of new pipelines. The building formerly was known as the Leader building.

EARLY WHEAT LOSS LATER RECOVERED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 — Wheat prices were ½-⅞ cents lower at one stage today but all of this loss was recovered before the close. The lowest prices in more than six weeks were recorded early in the session.

Selling inspired by moderating weather, melting snow and more favorable crop reports from the winter wheat belt accounted for most of the early decline. On the other hand, there was considerable buying to even up accounts later in the session, with most traders awaiting the Hitler speech. Moderate purchasing was credited to mills.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 97-97⅛, July 94½-¼; corn ⅛-¼ down, May 50⅜, July 56¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower.
